Re: Nelson R. Beahelfer, aka Neil Rogers

Dear Agent [redacted]

b6
b7C

As you know, I have been communicating with you for three weeks regarding alleged violations of the Mann Act and the Federal extortion laws by the above.

As I told you two weeks ago, Beahelfer is in Hawaii right this moment with one of the teenage boys he has solicited for his apparent sexual gratification through his WZTA-FM radio show.

[redacted] the head of [redacted] of the Broward County School Board, has confirmed to me this morning that he will be more than happy to assist you in locating the [redacted] High School student whose first name is [redacted] and who is a close friend of fellow students [redacted] and [redacted] you will recall, accompanied Beahelfer to Las Vegas in possible violation of the Mann Act. [redacted] has been awaiting your call.

I appreciate your and the U.S. Attorney's reluctance to act without evidence to support an indictment, but the evidence has been there to go get for quite sometime. My life continues to be threatened by Beahelfer, in violation of state and Federal law, and the evidence of this extortion is irrefutable.

If you want to check me out as to my veracity, then please call [redacted] Advisor to President Reagan, The White House, [redacted]

b6
b7C

You can also call Robert Showers, Obscenity Division, Justice Department, (202) 633-5780. Mr. Showers is fully aware of who I am, of the death threats I have had to repeatedly endure, and of the bizarre activities of Mr. Beahelfer.

Supv. [redacted]

AUG 16 1988

b6
b7C

I look forward to working in concert with Dexter Lehtinen upon my defeat of Janet Reno on November 8, but I should like to point out that I shall only have that opportunity if Beahelfer's orchestration of death threats toward me proves ineffectual.

I should like to conclude by noting that twenty-five years ago I had the pleasure of meeting F.B.I. Director J. Edgar Hoover in his office in Washington. It was one of the highlights of my young life then and still is. I think it not fanciful to surmise that Director Hoover, if he were alive today, would like to see the above criminal brought to justice.

I would encourage you to work toward that end, and quickly. I would appreciate it, as would the parents of the kids who have been targets of Beahelfer's criminal activities.

Best,

Rè: Neil Rogers on WZTA-FM, 94.9, Miami

Dear Madam/Sir:

Allow me to alert you to a distressing problem we have here in Dade County. The most highly-rated radio personality in South Florida is engaged in an ongoing vendetta against Vice President George Bush and Dan Quayle.

On September 7, 1988, Neil Rogers repeatedly suggested that the Vice President is a Nazi. For example, at 9:15 a.m., Rogers broadcast a speech by Adolph Hitler and said that it was George Bush speaking. Further, Rogers said that if George Bush is elected President, then he will require Americans to recite a song of the Third Reich rather than the Pledge of Allegiance and require young Americans to wear Hitler Youth uniforms.

Since September 7, Neil Rogers has repeatedly used similar suggestions to label Mr. Bush a Nazi, having done so twice on yesterday's September 27 show. By the way, during hourly newscasts, Rogers plays a song whose lyrics are about and favorable to Mike Dukakis.

Recently, the United States Secret Service warned Neil Rogers and his on-air sidekicks not to broadcast, as they had in the past, comments about "Quayle hunting" and joking about shooting President Reagan after seeing a Jody Foster movie. Neil Rogers even admitted on the air, after the visit from the Secret Service, that it is a violation of Federal law to joke about such things, which indeed it is.

And yet, at 7:30 a.m. on September 27, Neil Rogers joked once again about "hunting Quayle." At 7:55 a.m., in the midst of a discussion about the Presidential debate, Rogers did not dump the following comment by a caller: "If that [the debate] sways their voting at all, they should be shot."

At 6:37 a.m., by the way, Rogers said "Quayle is a whacko." As a Republican, I've heard plenty of complaints about the Senator, but it is a new one to hear that he is mentally ill. It is even more astounding that this radio demagogue could make this medical diagnosis never having met the man.

At 8:30 a.m., Neil Rogers referred to President Reagan as "a vegetable," which is in keeping with months of "comedy" about the President's alleged constipation and impotence. This garbage is often contained on recorded comedy tapes produced by The American Comedy Network in Bridgeport, Connecticut.

I enclose for your review a copy of an article in this month's issue of the ABA Journal about Rogers and his irresponsible employer, Guy Gannett Publishing Company of Portland, Maine. To verify my credibility and motivations, you may want to check with [redacted] Advisor to President Reagan in The White House.

b7C

I would conclude by urging the RNC, through you, to determine whether legal action should be brought against Rogers and his employer on behalf of Mr. Bush and Mr. Quayle, for these scofflaws' ongoing defamations.

Best,

SAY 'JACK' 40,000 TIMES

Harassed lawyer sues Miami radio stations for $200 million

A Coral Gables, Fla., lawyer, a candidate for Dade County State Attorney, has sued two popular Miami radio stations for $200 million for allowing a talk show host to harass him over the airwaves.

The lawyer, Jack Thompson, claims the stations violated a December 1987 agreement to stop the on-air harassment by Neil Rogers, the stations' top-rated air personality.

The Guy Gannett Publishing Co.-owned stations, WZTA-FM and its AM sister, WINZ, claim the agreement is void.

The battle began when Thompson tuned into Rogers' midday show in August 1987, and heard the talk-show host soliciting homosexual listeners to come with him on a vacation to Hawaii. Rogers said he wanted to have sex with the young, attractive male whom he picked to come along, according to Thompson. He said the station is not primarily for homosexual listeners.

"I objected to that in a letter, and the next thing I knew my name, address and phone number had been broadcast on the station," said Thompson. "I immediately received death threats and bomb threats."

He found a rifle target, shot full of holes, set up on his front lawn. A man screamed obscenities at him and his wife from their front yard one night. Appointments were made for him at urologists, rectal surgeons and psychologists throughout the Miami area. A realtor came to the Thompsons' house, unsolicited, and said, "I'm sorry you and your wife are getting divorced and you have to sell your house."

Rogers encouraged the same type of treatment toward a Miami-area cardiologist who objected to jokes Rogers made about Pope John Paul II having sex with his altar boys, Thompson said.

Rogers also orchestrated threats by listeners against Metro-Dade County Commissioners who wanted to have a referendum on whether to repeal a 1980 law requiring all county business to be conducted in English, according to published news reports.

Jack Thompson records the "Neil Rogers Show" on video cassettes in order to log all references made to him on the show.

Thompson sued Rogers in Miami for invasion of privacy, but the on-air mentions of the lawyer's name continued. The lawyer then contacted advertisers who paid for space during Rogers' show, and told them what Rogers was doing.

The radio station counter-claimed against Thompson, alleging tortious interference with advertisers.

Both lawsuits were dropped when both the AM and FM stations agreed to stop broadcasting references to Thompson, to stop encouraging harassment of him and to stop violating state and federal obscenity and indecency laws. The station also agreed to pay Thompson $5,000 for each violation of the agreement.

The day after the agreement was signed by Robert Gilbertson, executive vice president for Guy Gannett, it was violated 94 times during Neil Rogers' FM show, Thompson claimed.

Charles Kline of Miami, the lawyer for the defendant, claims the agreement was signed without the knowledge or authority of Gannett's president or board of directors.

"The contract is void and unenforceable because it has a chilling effect on the exercise of defendant's freedom of speech under the First Amendment," he said.

Nonetheless, Thompson sued Gannett for breach of contract in Dade County Circuit Court. The case was removed to federal district court. Thompson v. Gannett, No. 88-1150-Civ.

Thompson is seeking a court order to force the station to submit to binding arbitration as provided under the agreement. If they fail to do that, he wants a jury to decide whether the agreement is valid and what he is entitled to, if anything.

As of mid-August, Thompson said the station had violated the agreement 40,000 times. He keeps track of what the station airs by taping all of Rogers' broadcasts.

Thompson is being represented by the West Palm Beach, Fla., firm of Beverly & Freeman.

In August, Florida's Gov. Bob Martinez appointed a special prosecutor to review possible criminal acts by Rogers. Rogers allegedly told Thompson his bodyguard would beat Thompson if he didn't drop the lawsuit.

The Federal Communications Commission is also looking into Rogers' on-air conduct.

Thompson, a Republican, has vowed to prosecute the talk show host if he wins the November election.

Regarding the above, Neil Rogers, probably traveling under the name of Nelson R. Beahelfer, returned from his most recent vacation on August 20, 1988, probably on American Airlines flights #154 (Las Vegas to Dallas) and #336 (Dallas to Ft. Lauderdale). He might have been on Delta flights #748 (Las Vegas to Dallas) and #140 (Dallas to Ft. Lauderdale).

Rogers says the flight arrived in Ft. Lauderdale at 9:30 p.m.

You will probably find that [redacted] was also on the flight with Beahelfer.

I am glad to hear from [redacted] <sup>who</sup> that you will be speaking with the [redacted] High teacher ~~to~~ got his students hooked up with Rogers in order to find out who [redacted] is.

Finally, although Behelfer stayed last time at the Hyatt Regency on Waikiki (phone number 808-923-1234), he initially checked into the Diamond Head Beach Hotel on August 11 or 12 but checked out when he found the facilities unacceptable and stayed one night at The Royal Hawaiian before going elsewhere. On the way back to Miami, he and his boyfriends stayed at an unknown Las Vegas hotel on August 17, 18, and/or 19, possibly in the hotel I gave you previously.

FAGELSON was told that [ ] complaint alleges that ROGERS has used his position as talk host on FM radio station WZTA, Carroll City, Florida, to solicit and "troll for young boys." [ ] states that ROGERS is an avowed homosexual, who comments openly and regularly on the air about his interests in young boys, and how he wants to "get with them at his house or take them away on trips."

b7C

[ ] further said that ROGERS has, in the past, talked about one or more trips he has made to Las Vegas and Hawaii with a student(s) at [ ] HIGH SCHOOL, [ ] Florida. According to [ ] ROGERS has had one or more of these male students in the studio on the air or telephonically on the air discussing the trips and dropping numerous innuendos about homosexual activities.

b6
b7C

FAGELSON was also advised that [ ] claims that ROGERS is extorting him and/or threatening him over the air. A tape recording of what [ ] claims is an example of these threats was played back over the telephone for FAGELSON, but FAGELSON declined prosecution for lack of threatening substance as well as the fact that the use of the airways for such purposes is not a violation of the Federal Extortion Act. [ ] said the FBI would conduct a preliminary inquiry into [ ] allegations concerning the youths, and FAGELSON concurred the children should be interviewed.

On August 5, 1988, several hours later, FAGELSON recontacted [ ] and told him not to conduct any further investigation. FAGELSON said that he did not want to get the United States Attorney's Office in the middle of a personal war between NEIL ROGERS and [ ] and that the FBI should stop it's investigation. [ ] stated that the FBI had an obligation to conduct at least a preliminary inquiry attempting to determine if there is any substance to the allegations made by [ ] FAGELSON was advised further that the FBI did not intend to go directly to the youths, but instead would interview adults close to the situation for their assessment of these charges. FAGELSON remained firm stating that he did not want the FBI to do anything, and that [ ] should bring in proof of what he says to the FBI before anything was done. The conversation ended at this impasse.

[redacted] said he has been a teacher at [redacted] HIGH SCHOOL for approximately [redacted] years and is [redacted] while teaching [redacted]. He stated that when he first moved to South Florida he listened to the NEIL ROGERS show on radio station WINZ-AM and he [redacted] initially found ROGERS to be entertaining. [redacted] remembers mentioning to some of his students on occasions that ROGERS was funny and that they should listen to him. He was adamant that he never urged them to call ROGERS' radio talk show and that he did nothing more than talk about ROGERS as an entertaining talk host. [redacted] admits that it was not long before his interest in ROGERS began to wane, and he soon found ROGERS to be an abusive bore.

b7C

[redacted] was advised that the Miami FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION (FBI) Office has received a complaint that ROGERS has used his radio talk show as a means of attracting young males under the age of 18 for his homosexual pleasures, and ROGERS has, in fact, taken one or more of these minor males on trips with him to Las Vegas and/or Hawaii. [redacted] was asked if he was acquainted with two boys by the name of [redacted] and [redacted]. It was explained that writer did not have a last name for either boy, and [redacted] said he did know [redacted] but did not know a last name for [redacted]. [redacted] said he was not permitted, as a teacher, to reveal the last name of [redacted] at this time, but would be willing to contact [redacted] and ask him to call the writer. ## Radio personality denied request to silence critic

By BUDDY NEVINS

Miami Bureau Chief

MIAMI — A Dade County circuit judge has turned down radio broadcaster Neil Rogers' request to silence a persistent critic Rogers charges has harassed him.

Since August 1987, lawyer John B. Thompson has led a campaign to convince the Federal Communications Commission, legislators, the governor, Dade County's State Attorney, advertisers and station owners that Rogers' show is obscene.

Judge Jack M. Turner said he would be violating Thompson's right of free speech by issuing an injunction requested by Rogers.

Thompson has not seen the end of this," said Rogers, who added that his employer, Cox Broadcasting, would continue court action against the lawyer.

The top-rated WIOD-AM talk host said at a hearing in November that Thompson threatened his livelihood and harassed his friends. He also contended in interviews that Thompson had disrupted personal appearances and filed complaints with prosecutors, the FBI and the Secret Service.

But Turner ruled in the order released on Monday that Rogers failed to prove he suffered "irreparable harm."

Rogers sought the injunction to prevent Thompson, of Coral Gables, from spreading "slandorous and misleading statements" and

"Mr. Thompson has not seen the end of this."

— Neil Rogers,
WIOD-AM

"harassing (Rogers) in both his private and professional life."

Rogers has been supported by other Miami talk show hosts.

HALLANDALE

Neil Rogers feud heats up again

WIOD (610 AM) talk show host Neil Rogers trashed his favorite stomping grounds, the city of Hallandale, on Tuesday, urging his listeners to call City Hall and jam the switchboard. Hundreds of people did.

Rogers began launching on-air verbal missiles at Hallandale and its leaders minutes after he learned Coral Gables attorney Jack Thompson, a fervent anti-Rogers crusader, attacked him at a City Commission meeting.

Thompson urged city commissioners to pass a resolution urging the Federal Communications Commission to deny WIOD's request to have its broadcast license renewed because it employs Rogers, whom the lawyer called a "sociopath."

Commissioners asked the city attorney to draw up a resolution condemning Rogers. They intend to send copies to the FCC, WIOD's parent company, Cox Broadcasting of Atlanta and sponsors of Rogers' top-rated program.

Re: Neil Rogers, WIOD-AM, Marshall K. Hall, etc.

Dear Ms. Reno:

Please be advised that on Tuesday, August 29, the undersigned and his radio friends will have an opportunity to resolve their two-year dispute at a mediation insisted upon by me and presided over by Judge Milton Friedman.

[redacted] counsel for WIOD, and [redacted] counsel for [redacted] and Neil Rogers, have been adamant in not wanting to mediate this matter.

b6
b7C

Given your past propensity to chat with lawyers for media clients (Parker Thomson and [redacted] who employ Neil Rogers, I should like to suggest that you do so one more time before Tuesday's mediation. The idea you might want to impress upon [redacted] and [redacted] is that if they pursue their baseless lawsuits, then the following matters, because they, not I, have made them issues, will be litigated in open court:

b6
b7C

- a. Who influenced [redacted] and why;
- b. Was Janet Reno blackmailed and why;
- c. Is there reason to believe Janet Reno is a lesbian, as Neil Rogers has alleged, as a man who told me his wife left him for you said, and as has been rumored for years; and on and on and on.

b6
b7C

All of the above are matters that I do not want to address, but [redacted] and [redacted] compel the litigation of these matters, with the attendant public scrutiny, by their repeated placement of [redacted] fabrications in their pleadings. If I were "obsessed," as they allege, I would love the prospect of litigating such issues, but I do not look forward to what they compel in this regard.

b6

Please do call them and tell them to get off my back. You and I will both benefit if you convince them to do so.

Re: Solicitation of Teenage Boys for Sex by Neil Rogers on WZTA-FM and WIOD-AM

Dear Ms. Reno:

I have two ninety-minute audio cassettes, along with an index thereto, containing solicitations for sex from teenage boys by Neil Rogers, aka Nelson R. Behelfer.

The enclosed letter to Attorney [redacted] is in response to Senator Daniel K. Inouye's public request, in open hearings, for proof that Rogers does solicit boys for sex on the public airways, as you and I both know he does.

b6
b7C

Now the Senator has the proof, and I am asking you once again to do what is necessary and right, in furtherance of the oath you took to uphold the laws of this state, to see this man brought to justice.

Please advise to whom I should give these tapes and index, not for the purpose of burying them in a phony investigation, but to protect the children in this community.

That is your job, and you just ran out of excuses not to do it.

Best.

Re: Solicitation for Sex of Teenage Boys by Neil Rogers, WIOD-AM, Miami, Owned by Cox Enterprises

Dear [redacted]

Pursuant to Senator Daniel Inouye's request at the July 31, 1989 FCC confirmation hearings (Senate Communications Subcommittee of the Commerce Committee), I transmit herewith two ninety-minute audio cassettes containing dozens of solicitations for sex from teenage boys by Neil Rogers, along with an index thereto.

The solicitation or "trolling," as Neil Rogers himself calls it, has been going on for more than two years now, first on WINZ-AM, then on WZTA-FM (both stations are owned by Guy Gannett Publishing Company of Portland, Maine). As you will hear, the solicitations are still occurring on WIOD-AM, owned by Cox Enterprises, Inc. of Atlanta, Georgia.

I believe anyone can tell, upon listening to these solicitations, that they are indeed solicitations for sex. Rogers himself admitted on February 16, 1988 that they were. You have that admission on the tape, along with the nationally-distributed Focus on the Family's Citizen, which correctly reports Rogers' solicitations and admission thereto.

[redacted] on WIOD-AM for the past few years, has said on the air (and I have this on tape) that when Rogers solicits boys for sex "he is serious." (October 22, 1987 [redacted])

b7C

You already have--but I have enclosed another copy--the December, 1988 letter of The Adam Walsh Child Resource Center. Despite criminal harassment directed at that organization, orchestrated by Rogers because of that letter, this organization has held fast to the charge therein that Neil Rogers "solicits teenage boys for sex over the public airways."

I strongly encourage you to listen to all three hours of this tape, even though that will be an arduous and sickening task. That is imperative, I regret, because if you listen to all of the tape, you will hear the clever, calculated, and successful strategy of this dangerous pedophile, whose game plan includes:

- a. Air filthy recordings to attract young listeners;
- b. Solicit calls from high schoolers;
- c. Target specific schools as the favorite ones by saying you like to "look at the scenery" at certain schools, sitting in your red Ferrari;
- d. Air calls from students in those particular schools who respond by calling;
- e. Ask the boys how old they are, who they look like, and what their names are;
- f. Invite them into the studio;
- g. Flirt with them in the studio, on the air, and even suggest, by innuendo, what kind of sex you like to engage in with the boys;
- h. Invite the boys over to your house, individually, and also for parties and broadcast the time and location of the parties;
- i. Actually have them over to the house, individually and for the party;
- j. Even have the boys over to your house for a broadcast, on which you indicate you want them to take their clothes off, and to assure them that they have not been molested--"yet;"
- k. Take one or more of the boys--[redacted]--to Las Vegas and brag about it on the air;
- l. Complain repeatedly on the air that you have not had sexual intercourse with a male in a long time and that you are "desperate" to have it, all with the teenage objects of your desire listening on the radio or right there in the booth;
- m. Indicate that you are not interested in having sex with any male that is too old;
- n. Pursue one boy, [redacted] born in [redacted] for two years, on both WZTA-FM (Gannett) and WIOD-AM (Cox), saying you know the taste of his saliva and insisting that [redacted] let it happen" because [redacted] is God in drag."
- o. Indicate that you would like to have sex with certain male students on the "All-Dade water polo team, whose pictures, names, and high schools are printed in that morning's edition of The Miami Herald;

b6
b7C

b6
b7C

The attorneys who call this "satire"--Attorney [redacted] in Miami (WIOD), Attorney [redacted] in Ft. Lauderdale (Neil Rogers and [redacted]), and [redacted] in Atlanta (Cox Enterprises) will apparently do

b6
b7C

b6

and say anything to protect the enterprise that has let this solicitation of teenage boys for sex go on on WIOD-AM for ten months now.

One of the reasons they will lie about the undersigned's motivations and actions (when you hear the latest fabrication, which is sure to come your way in the wake of this letter, please let me know) is the enclosed letter, dated October 31, 1988, warning [redacted] of WIOD, before Rogers ever arrived at WIOD, that the solicitations would probably continue on WIOD.

b6
b7C

Indeed they have, and this fact alone should cost Cox Enterprises its WIOD license.

If you have any doubt whatsoever that Neil Rogers has solicited and is currently soliciting teenage boys for sex on the public airways of South Florida, please advise me of that doubt. I can make available to you, to the Senator, and to the Senate Subcommittee any number of experts in Rogers' compulsion and his methodology.

This has simply got to stop--now--not just for the sake of the children specifically solicited, but for the sake of the children who are being told, repeatedly by Rogers and WIOD, that sex between teenage boys and forty-eight-year-old men is thus normal.

The parents of South Florida's children have a legal and Constitutional right, so says the United States Supreme Court, to protect their children from such an agenda.

I would conclude by further pointing out that Neil Rogers has forfeited the privilege of sitting in front of a microphone and engaging in this criminal conduct ever again. WIOD has lost the right to let him do so. The FCC, finally, unless it does something right now, has lost the right to call itself a "regulatory agency."

Neil Rogers' ongoing solicitation of teenage boys for sex on the air is a local and national disgrace. I plead with Senator Inouye, as he said on the record in the confirmation hearings, to "go over to the FCC and take care of this problem."

Best,

[redacted]
