Re: Criminal Phone Harassment of [Redacted]

Dear [Redacted]

b6
b7C

It is painfully clear, once again, by your phone call today that you and your office lack the will to protect me and my wife from criminal harassment.

Therefore, please provide me right away with the names, addresses, and phone numbers of all those persons who have phones which have been utilized to harass us upon the prompting of radio personality, Neil Rogers.

By copying [Redacted] with this letter, I ask him for that information, as it pertains also to the newest members of the growing list of people who get their kicks from threatening me with the permission of our State Attorney.

b6
b7C

I shall use that information to secure a civil remedy, as we see once again that the criminal justice system in Dade is totally ineffectual.

Re: Criminal Activity at WIOD-AM

Dear Ms. Reno:

It has now been months since I provided your office with hard evidence showing that WIOD-AM and its personnel have violated felony statute 847.012 by distributing sexual material, mailed on audio cassettes, to minors. /

I have provided additional evidence of other criminal activity, including threats on the lives of individuals targeted by WIOD-AM and their personnel.

Ms. Reno, it is important to note to you and to the other recipients of this letter that your refusal to enforce the law against these powerful people in the media raises grave doubts as to your prosecutorial integrity, given past, apparently successful, efforts by certain individuals to blackmail you. D

In October of 1987, you were additionally deterred by the law firm representing Neil Rogers' station at the time from proceeding. Has this happened again?

I have been told for weeks now that your office cannot and will not disclose to me the status of the alleged on-going "investigation" of the aforestated distribution of audio cassettes to children, and yet I find in listening to a tape of yesterday's "Neil Rogers Show" that a caller has stated, with a high degree of credibility, that one of your Assistant State Attorneys has discussed this "investigation" with a private citizen totally unconnected with it. /

Can you explain why your office will discuss an investigation with a stranger to the process, in violation of your office's gag rule, and yet not discuss its status with the one person who has brought the evidence of the criminal activity to you, namely, the undersigned? Old animosity for pointing out to the electorate your ongoing nonfeasance?

Appearances as to why you refuse to act themselves condemn you, which is why Governor Martinez needs to act to appoint a special prosecutor, despite the self-protective advice of the General Counsel's office in Tallahassee that he not do so.

If we needed a special prosecutor when I was your opponent in a general election, we certainly need one now that I am a former opponent whom you cannot seem to bring yourself to listen to in order to protect, of all people, little children, from those who would exploit them. The people at WIOD, in violation of state and federal laws; continue to exploit and victimize them as surely as any child molesters do, and you are the law enforcement officer making it all possible.

Finally, we read in the newspapers of your lightning decision to prosecute [redacted] for exercising split-second judgment to protect himself and others. You and I and everyone knows it was politically expedient for you to bring the charges against him.

b6
b7C

Any fair-minded citizen, even a Governor, must openly wonder what the delay is, for which you are responsible, in filing charges in order to protect children. Is it because children don't vote, Ms. Reno?

We also read of one of your Assistant State Attorneys, high on cocaine, who killed two people last week.

Maybe you ought to take a hard look, Ms. Reno, at a) applying your gag rule impartially, b) enforcing laws to protect kids, even at your own political expense, and c) employing Assistant State Attorneys who enforce drug and other laws rather than violate them.

Assuming, based upon experience, that you are not capable of such a hard look, then I once again implore the Governor of this State, as well as the Dade County Grand Jury, to do all that is necessary to see that the criminal activity at WIOD that you continue to ignore for your own purposes be investigated and prosecuted, not for my sake but for the sake of the little ones.

Best,

Re: Licence Renewal of WIOD-AM, Miami, (Cox, Atlanta)

Dear Mr. Patrick:

Enclosed please find a copy of today's Miami Herald article delineating WIOD's latest successful effort to use threats and inflammatory language to intimidate now an entire City Commission by posing a clear and present danger to their safety and thereby subvert the political process.

Neil Rogers has been doing things like this for quite sometime. WIOD and Cox Enterprises hired Rogers knowing that he regularly has incited death threats toward his "targets," and they have allowed him to continue with these dangerous, irresponsible practices in purposeful pursuit of higher ratings. Rogers in July, 1987, caused the evacuation of the entire Metro-Dade Government Center because there was a pro-Hispanic item on the agenda he loathed, and he has used these same tactics countless times since.

This latest episode serves to prove the NAACP's point in its Petition to Deny's WIOD's application for license renewal, given WIOD's continuing reckless endangerment of life and property with inflammatory broadcasts. WIOD continues to so abuse the public trust as to have forfeited its right to continue to operate a radio station in this market.

Further, Cox Enterprises has countenanced this "shock radio" (the term used by WIOD personality [redacted] to describe his own and Neil Rogers' shows) in order to make money, pure and simple. They have thus put all Cox's licenses at risk across the country.

This bullying of the citizenry by WIOD in an effort to chill others' freedom of speech will continue with a resultant endangerment of life, unless you and the FCC act. The law-abiding citizens of South Florida implore you to do the job that Congress has Constitutionally directed you to do.

Avoiding 'mess,' Hallandale halts snit with Rogers

By DON VAN NATTA Jr.
Herald Staff Writer

Hallandale city commissioners backed off their vigilant campaign against Neil Rogers on Wednesday, saying they feared the WIOD radio talk show host and his minions would "storm City Hall" next week and riot.

"This is meant to avoid confrontation," Mayor Arthur "Sonny" Rosenberg said at a special commission meeting. "It would be one unfortunate mess."

Although still angered by Rogers' quips about elderly Hallandale residents, the City Commission unanimously agreed to withdraw from its Feb. 21 agenda a proposed resolution condemning Rogers.

"I am not going to permit him to turn our commission meetings into a circus," Rosenberg said.

Rogers, who broadcasts 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday through Friday, said, "It is just an excuse. They don't want to have to justify their actions. It is just cowardice."

The popular radio personality had vowed on the air last week to attend next week's City Commission meeting in Hallandale, and he invited his listeners to join him.

Rogers' lawyer, Norman Elliott Kent, reacted angrily to the city's concern that Rogers' supporters would spark a violent confrontation.

"I think Sonny Rosenberg is creating a fear of a public disturbance when none ever existed," Kent said. "They took the right action for the wrong reasons."

After the city instructed its city attorney to draft a resolution critical of Rogers on Feb. 7, he appealed to listeners for support.

Thousands of people responded to WIOD-AM 610, Kent said. "If [city commissioners] are canceling the resolution because they are afraid of the public response, then they have no business holding public office."

Rosenberg said he became concerned about public safety after Hallandale Police Chief Richard Fox expressed concern.

"Our first and foremost priority is to avoid any kind of demonstration which can result in a near riot or emotional outburst, which is very possible the way he has urged his listeners to come and storm City Hall," Vice Mayor Art Canon said.

Coral Gables lawyer Jack B. Thompson asked city commissioners last week to send a resolution to the Federal Communications Commission, which is considering WIOD's application for renewal of its broadcast license.

The city's decision to back off "just proves my point," Thompson said Wednesday. "Now that the city has withdrawn the agenda item, it is just proof that the methodologies by Rogers to use his electronic bully pulpit are effective."

[REDACTED]

Dear [REDACTED]

I am in receipt of your February 4 letter. Please note:

1. I left a copy of the letter to SALAD on the windshield of your car, parked at WIOD, because I thought you would find it of interest, not in order to annoy you. If I had known it would annoy you, I would have mailed you a copy instead. Our conversations have always been cordial, I am sure because you are indeed a pleasant person, although I certainly find your taste in radio shows less than exemplary.

I left my business card on your car once before, as I recall, asking that you call me, since you are somewhat difficult to get ahold of. If you found that annoying, you should have let me know. I certainly shan't do it again.

2. I don't harass people anywhere, certainly not on the phone. I have had enough of that myself.

3. I have no desire "to drive Neil Rogers into oblivion." I do suggest that he obey the law and that advertisers have a right to know what they are paying for and that the public has a right to know what advertisers are paying for it. That is what the First Amendment is about, [REDACTED] and I would be delighted to give you a balanced legal analysis of that particular Amendment if you really want to hear it.

4. [REDACTED] let's not get cute and in doing so accuse me of being mentally ill. When I said you are "the only person I can talk to" I meant that the others who are involved in this absurd behavior are employees of WIOD, and thus ethically I cannot talk to them, unless a situation arises in which I am directed to do so, as I was with [REDACTED]. Understand? I have hundreds of people to whom I have spoken about this problem, and I certainly am not in need of your lay therapy.

When I said I was a "fan" of the show, I was being facetious. You know, a joke. You hear a lot of jokes, I am sure.

5. I am practicing law, in furtherance of a good cause, which I cannot say about some of my lawyerly brethren. I think pornography, obscenity, and indecency are serious societal problems, don't you, [redacted]

b6
b7C

6. Regarding the tapes you sent out two years ago: I did not know who Neil Rogers was two years ago, so it would have been pretty tough to oppose their distribution, right? I have no idea what the "water under the bridge" comment has to do with that, but I believe you must have misconstrued it, just as you have some other things.

7. [redacted] do yourself a favor, since you are not a doctor and apparently also don't know libel law: I am not compulsive; I am not fanatical; and, most importantly to your legal situation, I have done nothing "criminal."

b6
b7C

To have told the other recipients of this letter that I have, most probably with the encouragement of Mr. Behelfer, is something you really should not have done.

Further, you reveal your total ignorance of Florida Statute 847.012 in saying that what Neil sent to kids is legal. That was possibly a grave mistake on his part, but if there are enough Janet Renos around, Neil may get away with this as well. He gets away with quite a bit these days.

Finally, your characterization of Mr. Rogers' show is more than unfortunate. It is tragic.

Best,

Re: Distribution by WIOD Radio of Audio Cassettes Containing Sexual Material Harmful to Minors in Violation of Florida Statute 847.012 (Felony)

Dear [redacted]

b6
b7C

I should like to encourage the Dade County Grand Jury to indict certain individuals at WIOD-AM, a Miami radio station, for their brazen violation of Florida Statute 847.012. Their conduct constitutes the commission of one or more felonies.

An overview of the facts is as follows:

During the month of December, 1988, WIOD was running a joint promotion with Camillus House whereby if listeners would send radio personality Neil Rogers at least twenty dollars and a 90-minute audio cassette, the station would turn the donation over to Camillus House and return the tape to the donor with a number of the filthy recordings aired by Neil Rogers placed on the tape.

I have two copies of this tape, one of them sent to someone the station was told was an eight-year-old girl. Children have received the tape, and it appears that Camillus House has a list of the names and addresses of individuals in South Florida who received these tapes; thus, subpoenaing the list would reveal precisely who received these illegal tapes.

I have painstakingly transmitted all the pertinent evidence to Janet Reno's office, but she refuses to act, clearly because she has not given obscenity prosecution a high priority. Her tragic failure in this regard is why I have approached the Grand Jury. I ask you to allow me, by whatever appropriate means, to assist you in your investigation and ultimate indictment of the individuals who have committed the aforementioned felonious acts.

Dear Ms. Reno:

Over a month ago I presented evidence to your office pertaining to the above. Since that time, I have provided additional information clearly indicating that minors have received these tapes in violation of Florida Statute 847.012.

I now tell you that it appears Camillus House has a list of the names and addresses of all the individuals who received these tapes. This fact has been broadcast on "The Neil Rogers Show." I told [redacted] of your office weeks ago that such a list probably existed. Your office should have subpoenaed it by now.

b6
b7C

Per past instructions from you, I have tried to have the North Bay Village Police Department fill out a police report on this criminal activity of WIOD, but your office has instructed them not to do so.

I have heard from two of our mutual acquaintances, [redacted] and [redacted] that you are personally concerned about what Neil Rogers is doing and that you wish you could do something about it.

b6

You can. You can tell me by five o'clock p.m., Tuesday, February 7, 1989, whether your office intends to prosecute this latest criminal activity of Neil Rogers, et alia.

If I do not hear from your office by that time, then I, without the help of your office, shall do what is necessary to see that justice is done, finally.

Hutton opens defense in scam

By CARLOS HARRISON
Herald Staff Writer

Leslie Howard Roberts played the part of a whiz-kid E.F. Hutton broker while he conned his great-uncle out of $5 million in a stock scam.

His great-uncle, Frank Gory, sued Hutton for not preventing the scam, asking for a sum between the $5 million he lost and the $31 million Roberts told him he had made.

As Hutton opened its defense Wednesday, in the 21st day of the Dade Circuit Court trial, Roberts testified via videotape that his great-uncle got conned while he was playing along with what he thought was a scheme to bilk Hutton.

Using phony stock statements, Roberts convinced Gory he could buy stocks at a discount — without the brokerage firm finding out.

"Frank had the bogus account," Roberts said. "He thought that we were working against the brokerage firms, pulling stocks out of the E.F. Hutton inventory" at prices below Hutton's cost.

Roberts said Gory paid him a percentage of the supposed profits — the difference between the stock's real price and the discount price. But the profits never existed because the sales never occurred.

"Here we were, working against the brokerage house and I was setting the profits and I was scamming him on top of that by getting cash from him," Roberts said.

Gory died in October. His widow, Mary Lou Gory, is carrying on the lawsuit in the courtroom of Judge Amy Steele Donner. Her attorneys contend that the latest version of Roberts' story — given in November — is another invention of the self-confessed con artist now serving a 15-year sentence for the stock fraud.

"We believe Les' credibility to be suspect, at the very least," attorney John Squitiero said.

Roberts built a flamboyant life style filled with a fleet of fancy cars and a $1.5 million mansion on a lake. He never mentioned his great-uncle's alleged involvement in the scheme until after Gory died in October.

In repeated depositions before that, Roberts said he alone ran the scam and called the massive sums of cash Gory gave him "loans."

None of the attorneys has asked Roberts why he waited until after Gory's death to make the allegation about Gory's role in the scam. But Hutton attorney Rick Martens hinted at the reason in a series of questions during the deposition replayed Wednesday.

Martens: "Mr. Roberts, can you tell us — you're aware that Mr. Gory has passed away, correct?"

Roberts: "Yes."

Martens: "Were you afraid of him when he was alive?"

Roberts: "Yes."

Martens: "Did he ever tell you that loyalty keeps people alive?"

Roberts: "Yes."

2 radio hosts fueled unrest, NAACP says

By DAN HOLLY
Herald Staff Writer

Citing "inflammatory" remarks made by WIOD talk show hosts Neil Rogers and Steve Kane during the recent civil disturbances, the Miami-Dade NAACP said Wednesday that it would file a petition today with the Federal Communications Commission seeking to deny the station's broadcast license.

The license is up for renewal Tuesday.

"There were references made to 'these people' being animals, barbarians, punks and the like," said Johnnie McMillian, the group's president. "They said, 'They should be pinned up behind barbed wire. They're not even human beings.'"

"What they did was air communications they knew or should have known would influence an already difficult situation for community and the police," said the group's general counsel, David Honig.

The statements, made Jan. 18, amount to a violation of the FCC's ban against statements that pose a "clear and present danger to life and property," Honig said.

Mike Disney, WIOD general manager, said he had not seen the petition and could not comment. He did note, however, that the station agreed to let McMillian be a guest on Steve Kane's show on Jan. 19.

He said he would give messages to Kane and Rogers asking them if they wanted to comment. Neither returned the Herald's calls.

This past month, WIOD-AM in Miami has distributed, through the mails, over a thousand pornographic audio cassettes in violation of Florida obscenity statutes.

State Attorney Janet Reno cannot bring herself to prosecute this criminal activity, even though I have given her clear and convincing evidence of it. The reasons she will not do her job have been documented, at length, to you and your General Counsel.

I thus formally ask you to appoint a special prosecutor to discharge the duties she refuses to fulfill.

You, like Janet Reno, have taken an oath to uphold the laws and Constitution of this State. Failure to do so in this particular regard may create more Ted Bundys for which you and she will be held responsible.

If you could hear Neil Rogers broadcast to children his "comedy bits" that depict sadomasochism it would a) break your heart and b) encourage you to act, just as you have acted to end the life of a product, at least in part, of pornography.

Dear [Redacted]

I now have a tape recording of a young boy (clearly under eighteen years of age) calling Neil Rogers at 11:37 a.m. on January 23, 1989, to acknowledge receipt of the obscene/indecent tape sent him by Rogers and WIOD.

You have said to me that your office has a policy not to reveal whether there is even an investigation of this criminal activity. As you know, State Attorney Janet Reno regularly violates this non-policy, thereby putting the lie to what you have said in this regard.

With the filing of charges by Janet Reno yesterday against [Redacted] only one week after he shot a motorcyclist, we can see how swiftly she can move when "motivated" to do so.

b6
b7C

When are you and your office going to become "motivated" to protect the children in this county from the criminal distribution of pornography by WIOD?

People don't riot about pornography, but the wounds to its victims, such as the young Ted Bundy and his subsequent victims, are out there nevertheless.

I find it sadly ironic that you and I went to law school at [Redacted] and now you, whom God has blessed with children, have to be reminded by me, who has none of my own, that you personally are facilitating an assault upon the children of this community.

Re: Continuing Misconduct of State Attorney Reno

Dear [Redacted]

Item 6 in Deputy State Attorney [Redacted] October 14, 1988 letter to Governor Martinez contains the following statement:

"Ms. Janet Reno's Office never conducted an investigation of the allegations against Mr. Neil Rogers, and therefore could not have "dropped it." Mr. Neil Rogers did not call Ms. Janet Reno a lesbian, but rather said she had the characteristics of a diesel truck driver. While that is no doubt rude and insulting to both Ms. Reno personally and to the office which she represents; again it neither rises to the status of a criminal act, nor does it constitute any sort of accusation on Mr. Neil Rogers' part that she is a lesbian." (latter emphasis added)

So that you and the Governor might know fully what is going on down here, please know, first of all, that Janet Reno did open an investigation of Rogers, which was confirmed personally by her in the October 24, 1988 edition of the Ft. Lauderdale Sun-Sentinel. Deputy State Attorney [Redacted] assertion to the contrary is a lie and designed to protect a fellow prosecutor from embarrassment at the expense of the children in this community.

Secondly, I happened to see a scene this weekend from the Mel Brooks movie, "High Anxiety." It is a rather funny movie (even we "obsessed" people have a sense of humor), and I share this scene with you because it reveals another lie of [Redacted] Harvey Korman introduces to Mel Brooks, the incoming new director of "The Institute for the Very, Very Nervous" what Korman calls his "right-hand man" played by actress Cloris Leachman.

SEARCHED INDEXED

Leachman--his "right-hand man"--portrays a lesbian whose name is "Nurse Diesel."

So here we see that the connotation of lesbianism that attaches to "diesel truck driver" is not, in fact, something I dreamed up, as [] contrives, but rather a connotation that Mel Brooks, his national movie-going audience, and, I dare say, Ms. Reno all understand.

b6
b7C

The blackmail that I have alleged is still going on. Ms. Reno denies it, which is the typical response of people who are being blackmailed.

Ms. Reno has recently been supplied with clear and convincing evidence showing that Neil Rogers and others at his new radio perch, WIOD, have directly distributed obscene/indecent sexual material on audio cassettes, in clear violation of Florida Statute 847.012 and certain obscenity statutes.

This direct distribution, via the U.S. mails, is not a broadcasting function and puts Rogers' new criminal activity outside the FCC-preempted spheres of regulation.

Janet Reno has done nothing in response to this compelling evidence, just as she has refused to prosecute Rogers for his repeated broadcasting of phone numbers, even in the past two months, to encourage criminal phone harassment of other citizens and institutions, including the Adam Walsh Child Resource Center, which raised Rogers' ire by pointing out he solicits boys for sex on the air. That charge is another one [] said I dreamed up all by myself.

b6
b7C

Isn't it strange that [] does not see things that experts, like the Adam Walsh people, see?

b6
b7C

Makes one wonder what kind of cover-up is going on, doesn't it?

Please be advised that I shall be asking shortly for a new special prosecutor in light of Janet Reno's ongoing refusal to prosecute.

I suggest you not continue to keep this burgeoning disaster, which is affecting real children who are not yet old enough to vote for or against Ms. Reno, from Governor Martinez. It is high time he know what is going on.

If you will not apprise the Governor, then I shall arrange for a group of concerned, responsible citizens, some of them with national reputations for effective battle against pornography, to meet with the Governor and apprise

Dear Ms. Reno:

Covered by a copy of this letter I am transmitting to Metro Detective [redacted] an audio cassette tape containing a fraction of the phone harassment received by me and my wife at our home over the past ten months.

b6
b7C

This particular fraction is submitted because it was committed by two particular individuals who have been apprehended by Southern Bell's phone trap system.

I would ask you, once again, to enforce the law. Please prosecute these two individuals for what they have done.

I would also ask, with absolutely no anticipation that you will have the sense to do so, that you prosecute Neil Rogers as well for soliciting this harassment. When you listen to the tape that Detective [redacted] supplies you you will hear the references to (even the replay of portions of) "The Neil Rogers Show" by the harassers.

b6
b7C

Rogers has been unremitting since August, 1987, in his criminal references to me and our dispute, thereby soliciting harassment of me, but you and the bizarre Deputy State Attorney have done nothing to enforce the law in that regard.

The items on the transmitted tape:

1. The first two items are recordings from the Rogers show that [redacted] residing at [redacted] played into my answering machine at 1:13 a.m. and 1:14 a.m. on April 12, 1988. Southern Bell caught him and I want him prosecuted.

b6

2. The next call [redacted] is from a guy who was not caught, but it is a chronic caller to the Rogers show who goes by the name of [redacted]. He is probably accurate in his assessment of me, but I have thrown it in here just to underscore the fact that Rogers' minions are quite responsive in doing their master's bidding.

b6
b7C

What a shame public servants aren't so responsive.

3. The balance of the calls are from the clown that Southern Bell caught making a dozen or so calls to me around noon on December 12, 1988.

The December 12 calls, listened to directly by me, were the ones that Southern Bell caught him making. The calls that day began with [redacted] (not an accurate assessment) followed by numerous calls and hang-ups and ending with [redacted]

b6
b7C

It is the same voice of the gentleman who says he is

[redacted]
Great sense of humor. Perfect target listener of the "Neil Rogers Show."

b6
b7C

Rogers has repeatedly said in the past, and I have him on tape saying it: "I have to be careful what I say, because all the whackos out there believe what I say and do whatever I tell them to do."

By the way, I have on tape (not transmitted to Detective [redacted] this second gentleman's obscene call to me last evening.

b6
b7C

He will keep it up until arrested, I am sure.

So, what are you going to do? Detective [redacted] and my wife and I all want to know.

b6
b7C

One of the tragedies here--for me and my wife--not for you, is that others will undoubtedly take these two fellows' places because you refuse to prosecute Neil Rogers for giving out my phone number in [redacted] followed by the eighteen months of criminally orchestrated harassment of me.

b6
b7C

I
hear from my neighbor, [redacted] that you want to do something, but that you cannot do anything about the "Neil Roger Show."

b6
b7C

Let's get this straight, for about the hundredth time, shall we? The FCC regulates the content of the show as to violates of FCC Standards, enacted by Congress. You are

[redacted]
b6
b7C

supposed to prosecute, in the state venue, extortion, solicitation of phone harassment, solicitation of boys for sex, distribution of sexual material harmful to minors, and so forth.

The people at the FCC understand that. I understand that. Why don't you understand that?

Re: Distribution of Obscene/Indecent Tape Recordings
by WIOD-AM

Dear [Redacted]

b6
b7C

In listening to the [Redacted] "Neil Rogers Show," the host announced that [Redacted] will be sending out one hundred of the Camillus House cassettes, the contents of which were disclosed to you quite awhile ago.

I strongly urge you to get a search warrant immediately today in order to seize these tapes at the above address. I think you may find that some of them are going out to minors.

Additionally, people who are experts in this area of the law have listened to the items on these tapes and consider them to sink to the level of obscenity, which means their distribution to anyone is a felony.

If you don't get the aforementioned search warrant, then this additional, tragic failure on the part of your office will be communicated to Governor Martinez, whose General Counsel will decide, upon the presentation of additional evidence of your prosecutorial nonfeasance, whether or not to appoint a new special prosecutor.

As I indicated the other day, maybe you ought to ponder your dual roles as both a prosecutor and a mother. Failing that, think about the kids who belong to other mothers who do have enough sense not to want their kids to get this illegal filth.

Best,

Re: Neil Rogers

Dear Ms. Reno:

On his show yesterday, Neil Rogers solicited individuals to place harmful chemicals in Metamucil on store shelves in order to cause discomfort but not death to older people.

I have this incredible solicitation on tape.

This criminal act (solicitation of a battery) comes from a man who has repeatedly said he must be careful as to what he says because "whackos out there will do whatever I say."

Please advise immediately if you plan to proceed against Rogers for this latest in a string of criminal acts.

Re: Neil Rogers and WIOD-AM

Dear Ms. Reno:

You and I have had our differences lately, but maybe we can agree on something this time. Maybe we can agree that something needs to be done, of a prosecutorial nature, given the information I am about to impart.

A few weeks ago, Neil Rogers began a pre-Holiday promotion for WIOD in which he solicited $20 or more from listeners in contributions to Camillus House. In exchange for a contribution, he would send a cassette tape back to each donor, which would contain the various "dirty" recordings he plays on his show.

I concocted my own private sting in which I sent him a check for twenty dollars along with a crayon letter from a fictitious "Amy, eight years old."

Rogers, upon receiving the letter, read it on the air (I have this on tape) and sent "Amy" the filthy tape, which contains material so gross as to clearly violate at least 847.012. I have enclosed the transcribed lyrics of some of the items on this tape, which I had provided to you previously. Those items that are not on the tape are marked out with red ink.

Even if this sting does not hold up, one could easily show, given the list of donors in the possession of Camillus House, that some of the recipients of the tape are under 18.

Please have one of your attorneys (may I suggest), if you would be so kind, contact me. I shall have to go public with all this in a week or so if you do nothing. I would appreciate your not contacting the station or its attorneys, as you have in the past, because in doing so you will further endanger my and my wife's lives.

Best,

THE CANDY [W]RAPPER SONG

It was another Payday. I was tired of being a Mr. Goodbar. So when I saw Miss Hershey standing behind the Powerhouse on the corner of Clark and Fifth Avenue, I whipped out my Whopper and whispered, "Hey, Sweet Tart. How'd you like to Crunch on my Big Hunk for a Million Dollar Bar?"

She immediately went down on my Tootsie Roll, and, you know, it was like pure Almond Joy. I couldn't help but grab her delicious Mounds, because it was easy to see that this little Twix had the Red Hots. It was all I could do to hold back a Snicker Crack Up, as my Butterfinger went up her tight little Kit-Kat.

She started to scream: "Oh, Henry. Oh. Henry." Soon she was fondling my Peter, Paul, and ___ Nuts. And I knew it wouldn't be long before I blew my Milk Duds clear to Mars and gave her a taste of the old Milky Way.

She asked if I was into M & Ms. I said, "Hey, Chicklet. No Goofy Stuff." I said, "Look, you little Reese Piece, don't be a Zero. Be a Lifesaver. Why don't you just take my What You May Call It and slip it up your Bitter Honey?"

Oooh, what a piece of Juicy Fruit she was, too. She screamed: "Oh, Cracker Jack. You're better than The Three Musketeers," as I ran my Ding Dong up her Rocky Road and into her Peanut Butter Cup.

I was giving it to her Good 'N' Plenty, when all of a sudden, my Star Burst. Yeah, as luck would have it, she started to grow a bit Chunky and complained of her Wrigley in her stomach. Sure enough, nine months later, out popped a Baby Ruth.

The Condom Song

Your love life will be sweeter,
If you wrap your peter,
Keep a ring in your wallet everyday.

If you don't think you love her,
You'd better use a rubber,
Because in National Condom week we say:

If you think she's spunky, cover your monkey.
Before you attack her, wrap your whacker.
Cover your stump before you hump.
Don't be silly, protect your willy.
Don't be a loner, cover your boner.
If you go with the heat, package your meat.
When in doubt, shroud your sprout.
Even if you sack her, gift wrap your member.

Your love life will be sweeter,
If you wrap your peter,
Keep a ring in your wallet everyday.

If you don't think you love her,
You'd better use a rubber,
'Cause AIDS ain't a game you want to play.
'Cause AIDS ain't a game you want to play.

Boys Want Sex in the Morning

Boys want sex in the morning,
Sex in the morning
When I'm not my best
Petting and pawing
Tearing at my breasts.

Boys want someone who's winsome
Someone to pin, someone to undertake
Boys want someone to fall on Someone to crawl on Someone half awake.

Boys want sex in the morning,
Sex in the morning,
Covers at my knees
Boys want rotten conditions
Placid positions
I am a trapeze

Boys want someone who's sleepy
Someone who's keeping nothing in too deep
Boys want somebody firsthand
Someone to burst
And then go back to sleep

There is nothing I like better than a jostle now and then
With the hands under the sweater and the back that starts to bend,
But before my eyes are open I don't want to have to hide
From a single tongue still poking with a thimble full of pride

Boys want sex in the morning, sex in the morning
Soiling the sheets
Boys want sex while I'm yawning,
Suddenly spawning when I'm half asleep
Boys want someone unconscious,
Somebody not just waiting for a thrill
Boys want sex with surprises
Sex with sunrises
Someone on the pill

There is nothing like a lover who can satisfy your needs
And the joy when you discover just how often he succeeds
But before my eyes can focus, I don't need him to surprise
By descending like some locust on a field of sleeping thighs

Boys want sex in the morning, sex in the morning,
When I'm still not fresh
Boys want something that strikes them
Someone who likes them fondling their flesh
Boys want someone to take, and someone to break
And comment on their size

Boys want someone to prod and someone who'll nod
And then just close her eyes.

THE ASSHOLE SONG

Were you born an asshole
Or did you work at it your whole life?
Either way it worked out fine
'Cause you're an asshole tonight.

Yes, you're an A-S-S-H-O-L-E
Don't you try to blame it on me
You deserve all the credit
You're an asshole tonight.

You were an asshole yesterday
You're an asshole tonight
And I've got a feelin'
You'll be an asshole the rest of your life.

And I was talking to your mother
Just the other night,
I told her I thought you were an asshole
She said, "Yes, I think you're right."

And all your friends are assholes
'Cause you've known them your whole life.
And somebody told me, you've got an asshole for a wife.

Were you born an asshole
Or did you work at it your whole life?
Either way, it worked out fine
'Cause you're an asshole tonight.

MY DADDY IS A WOMAN

[Sung by a Young Girl]

Forty years of age, before Papa lost his mind,
Had an operation, you know, that funny kind,
He walked out on Mama, with his change of life,
It's Dad's Day, my Papa,
Now he's some fella's wife.

Oh, my daddy is a woman,
Daddy is a woman.
Yes, my daddy is a woman.
Her daddy is a woman.

He wears a dress and paints his lips,
Six-feet-four with swinging hips,
Sweet perfume and rhinestones in his hair.

Oh, my daddy is a woman,
Daddy is a woman.
Yes, my daddy is a woman,
Her daddy is a woman.
Now fellas chase my daddy everywhere.

I remember Pa, a handsome, rugged man.
Fellas called him "Big Joe," but now he's called "Joanne."
He used to hoot and holler,
But some guy caught his eye,
Now all the fellas whistle,
When Papa swishes by.

'Cause my daddy is a woman,
Daddy is a woman.
Yes, my daddy is a woman.
Her daddy is a woman.
Now fellas chase my daddy everywhere.

Lord, it's so mixed up,
It's not a life of clover,
Ma is now falling _____,
'Cause Papa ain't no more,
He's no longer with us,
According to the law,
Got myself two Mamas,
But I ain't got no Pa.

'Cause my daddy is a woman,
Daddy is a woman.
Yes, my daddy is a woman,
My daddy is a woman.
He wears a dress and paints his lips,
Six-feet-four with swinging hips,
Sweet perfume and rhinestones in his hair.

Oh, my daddy is a woman,
Daddy is a woman.
Yes, my daddy is a woman,
And fellas chase my daddy everywhere.

He's got big muscles in his wrist,
He holds his organ in his fist,
He gives his pink _____ a mighty twist,
He wears his trousers way too tight,
Hoping that he'll score big tonight,
He keeps his briefcase in his lap,
Or else, you know, that his face gets slapped.

All the girls in the office, they say:
"Hard on, hard on, beg my pardon."
Walk with an erection.

He wears an earring in his left ear,
The gerbils all run from him in fear,
He goes to private time,
To _____ his king and queen to every man
His Calvin Kleins go to the bone,
Make sure that he don't go home alone,
His _____ in Key West,
Who think that Blue Boy Mag is the best.

All the boys in Frisco, they say:
"Gay-o, gay-o, gay-o, hey-o,
Walk with an erection.

All the boys from Maine to Mexico,
Are all obsessed with _____ blow,
Like the cop who carries a big nightstick,
It's just an extension of his wick,
He busts the hookers on the block,
Unless they give service 'round the clock,
Goes home to wife and kids so nice,
Although he gets off on working vice.

Those college boys are true to form,
They try to lure chicks into their dorm,
They're oozing sweat from every pore,
They drop their drawers, then they ask for more,

All the girls from B.U., they say:
"Hard on, hard on, beg my pardon."
Walk with an erection,
Walk with an erection.

Dear Ms Killory,

I am writing to express my objection to the messages being aired by Neil Rogers on radio station WIOD. I have listened to several of his shows on tape and was shocked to find that he, in my opinion, solicits teenage boys for sex over the airways.

I cannot believe that he is permitted to continue his offensive remarks. I urge the proper authorities to immediately investigate this matter.

Re: Bomb threats incited by Rogers and Kane

Gentlemen:

Listening today to yesterday's "Neil Rogers Show" and the first portion of "The [Redacted] Show" I heard both gentlemen broadcast the telephone number of Gold Coast Properties because Mr. Rogers and [Redacted] do not like a particular legal position their condominium association has taken.

b6
b7C

Mr. Rogers and [Redacted] labeled the secretary for the association, [Redacted] a "bitch." [Redacted] also apparently broadcast another telephone number, which appears to be the private residence number of someone else these two radio personalities do not care for and who is involved in the legal dispute that was the subject of [Redacted] show the day before.

b6

Q

Mr. Rogers also gave the audience a good idea what to do with a comment apparently aimed at the newest targets of his extortion by suggesting that "the Bird of Paradise do it all over your face."

[redacted] also said that "we're not going to rest until" the situation is resolved in a manner acceptable to [redacted] and then pledged that WIOD will do "everything we can" to make sure that happens.

b6
b7C

Apparently "everything" includes inciting bomb threats, death threats, obscene phone calls, and other harassment that I have ascertained were received by Gold Coast Properties in the wake of this absurd on-air conduct. When Gold Coast could not take it anymore, they switched their phone over to the answering service, and the service received the same harassment.

Mr. Rogers has now succeeded in causing the evacuation of the Metro-Dade Government Center, the shutting down of a cardiologist's office, the placement of harassing phone calls to [redacted] at Channel 4, phone harassment of other individuals, and the nearly continual harassment of my wife and me for sixteen months. Now [redacted] has picked up a new bad habit.

b6
b7C

The geniuses at WIOD, [redacted] and [redacted] with the apparent encouragement of the folks in Atlanta, have now brought radio terrorism to Cox Enterprises.

b6
b7C

I suggest the recipients of this letter do what is necessary immediately to make sure that a new round of harassment not be incited this Monday, or certain individuals and corporate entities will have an even bigger problem than they already have.

Depend on it.

Re: Neil Rogers

Dear

b6
b7C

Enclosed please find the Agreement signed by the above, as well as by the  the company for whom Mr. Rogers was working at the time. You have promised to send me your letter to Mr. Rogers.

Allow me to relate what has happened in the last few days. On Wednesday of this week you called the above on the air. You offered to assist his Camillus House effort, and I applaud your intentions, but I also take note of your dangerous naivete. You do not understand that this man who, by his own admission trolls for boys for sex on the air, is using the Camillus House to bring an air of phony respectability to his illegal activities.

Upon hearing your well-intentioned but naive call, I called your pastor, Reverend  and expressed to him my concern that the Church not be sullied by what Mr. Rogers is doing. Your pastor said, "This man is a great communicator and may one day be an Apostle Paul." I could have pointed out that the Apostolic Age is over, which makes that a definitional impossibility, but I did point out that Satan is a great communicator as well. So is President Reagan, whom Mr. Rogers, with deep Christ-like love, calls a "douchebag" and jokes about the President's alleged inability to engage in sex with the First Lady.

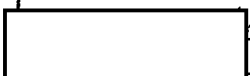

b6
b7C

I am glad to hear, by the way, that part of your church's ministry is to homosexuals. Mr. Rogers repeatedly labels people as homosexuals that are not, including the undersigned, and including the President's son. Since you obviously have compassion for homosexuals, as do I, you might want to suggest to Mr. Rogers that he display more compassion in his cruel libels and also crass mocking of homosexuals.

Reverend  and I did not agree on much in our call on Wednesday, and the conversation, with some heat  coming.

from my side, terminated.

It should be noted that in your talk with Rogers on the air you indicated you have to turn off his show at times in the church because some in the congregation might be offended by its content. Does that suggest anything to you?

You then wrote Rogers about my conversation with your pastor, and Rogers has read portions of the letter on the air today. I should like to remind you of your Scriptural obligation to have spoken to me rather than to run to this man with a nasty, inaccurate letter about me. I heard a bit of that letter on the air and called your church to find out what was going on, particularly since I have had to endure innumerable death threats incited by Mr. Rogers' obsessive comments about me on his show.

You hung up on me twice today in the wake of my simply calling to speak with your pastor, and you now tell me today that you have called and spoken with Janet Reno's secretary and thus told that office that I am "harassing" you. That is a lie, and you know it is a lie. It is a further embarrassment to the Body of Christ that you would do such a thing.

Fortunately, you and I did speak today, at length, for about twenty minutes, during which time you and I found we do not agree about much of anything. That is okay, but you and I both have a right to express our differences. That is why I called you in the first place. But there are some people, and apparently you are one of them, who are so intolerant that you construe disagreement to be harassment.

If you had endured seventeen months of death threats and other niceties orchestrated by Mr. Rogers, then you would have a better handle on the definition.

I do want you to know that I appreciated your taking the time to talk with me.

I applaud what you are doing for the cause of Christ in your church, but I believe you hurt that cause when you publicly endorse garbage like "The Neil Rogers Show."

You have chosen to turn your wrath upon me rather than upon what this man is doing to our community. I can handle it, and I shan't call you again, not because I have harassed you but because there are indeed those who refuse to hear.

There are many Christians who think the laws should not be enforced. You are one of them. And yet you threaten me with Janet Reno's prosecutorial powers for wanting to express my concerns to your pastor.

b6
b7c

b6
b7c

You taunted me at the end of our call by saying "I will pray for you," which is the classic Christian put-down. You also graciously labeled me a "nut."

In light of all that, I would strongly suggest you not pray for me but instead pray for the teenage boys in our community who are being told, day after day, that they ought to have sex with forty-seven-year-old men.

And pray for Janet Reno, who refuses to prosecute those who break the law because it is inconvenient to do so.

I'll be just fine.

Best,

Dear [redacted]

Thank you for your correspondence referencing Executive Order 88-177.

I have carefully reviewed all your correspondence and offer you the following conclusions. Any allegations of violations of the criminal laws of this state which you currently wish to make, should be made known to Ms. Janet Reno, State Attorney for the Eleventh Judicial Circuit of Florida. When this office received Ms. Reno's request for the appointment of an outside prosecutor, it was based on the fact that you were then a candidate for State Attorney. Since the election is over, we have not been asked by Ms. Reno for an outside prosecutor on any other allegations. Executive Order 88-177 was closed by a letter from this office.

In addition, the concerns you have about the investigation conducted by State Attorney Joseph D'Alessandro pursuant to the executive order, do not provide cause for this office to question the judgment of that public official in carrying out his duties under that order.

Re: "The Neil Rogers Show"

Dear [Redacted]

b6
b7C

For your sake, for the sake of Cox Enterprises, for the sake of Mr. Neil Rogers, for the sake of Mr. Glen Hill, and for the sake of this community, I should like to encourage you to read this letter very carefully and then think about the magnitude of what you find yourself in before you make the mistake of embarking upon a course typical of most attorneys who find their client has made a colossal blunder. Consider:

At 8:45 a.m. today I received a "thank you" call from [Redacted] of the Women's Health Center of North Shore Medical Center.

b6
b7C

The Women's Health Center has been an advertiser on "The Neil Rogers Show," that is, until yesterday. I simply let [Redacted] know that she was an advertiser on that show, and I supplied her with the lyrics of certain items the inimitable Mr. Rogers and Mr. Hill have been playing on the very show that her Center has been subsidizing. [Redacted] has now pulled the advertising off not only the Rogers show but also off the entire station. I did not urge her to do so; she decided to do that herself.

b6
b7C

However, I clearly have a Constitutional right to have encouraged her to pull the ads. I am sure you and your clients who are such proponents of the First Amendment will recognize that right. It they do not, then I suspect they are also members of "The Flat Earth Society." Ⓚ

[Redacted] could have just as easily said to [Redacted] Stop playing this garbage, because we don't want our Center associated with it. [Redacted] however, chose not to rely upon the judgment and goodwill of [Redacted] who has made all this possible by [Redacted] unleashing a man whose show, WIOD's own [] has said, "appeals to the prurient interest of the audience."

b6
b7C

What [] has done she has every right to do. Her gratitude to me right now is a bit higher than her gratitude toward the station that did not bother to let her know the type of show her Center was paying for. Yet you threatened me yesterday with a lawsuit sounding in the theory that I am tortiously interfering with Cox's advertisers. As Rogers says: "Good luck to you, sir." Sue me for that bogus cause of action, and you'll be buying a malicious prosecution action when it is dismissed.

b6
b7C

In the meantime, should you sue me, you'll make me the patron saint of every reputable advertiser in the country. If you don't believe it, just talk to the national companies who blew off Rogers' WINZ show fifteen months ago when they found they had been hoodwinked into buying time on "shock radio," as [] describes Rogers' show.

b6
b7C

I have, to date, contacted only one advertiser--the Women's Health Center. Why? Because I find it particularly despicable, cruel, and crass for Cox Enterprises to take money from a medical center that, among other things, as indicated in the very ads themselves, assists women who must endure the physical and psychological trauma of breast removal. Cox has no trouble taking this Center's money and then broadcasting "comedy" that demeans women in clear violation not only of FCC Standards but of any standard of decency whatsoever. Whether [] understands it or not, there is such a thing as "decency," and he would do well to read the FCC's and the United States Supreme Court's definition and application of it. Maybe [] has been in the radio industry too long to understand such things.

b6
b7C

There is another reason the Women's Health Center was contacted by me: Janet Reno, my political opponent and nearly perfect ideological opposite on many issues, is a strong supporter and encourager of the Women's Health Center. Let that fact emphasize to you and to the programming geniuses at WIOD-AM (whom Rogers crow's let him do anything he wants on the air) that this is not a dispute in which one lone "right-wing born-again fanatic," as Rogers has repeatedly described me, is proving troublesome to Cox's crass commercialism.

Cox has calculatingly chosen to dump this garbage into an entire community, and I can guarantee you that I am not the only individual outraged by it. Plenty of people have told me and others that they will never listen to WIOD again.

b6
b7C

If you cannot understand any other part of this letter, understand the importance of this: [redacted] told me that a woman patient of the Women's Health Center, independent of any efforts on my part, called Rogers on the air yesterday and complained about the things he was doing on his show. He responded by calling her a "douchebag." Tell me, [redacted] does that offend you? Does that offend anyone at Cox Enterprises? How about [redacted] and [redacted] in [redacted] Cox? I suggest you share this letter with them, pronto.

b6
b7C

In the interim, I am going to do Cox and Neil Rogers and Glen Hill and [redacted] and [redacted] and all these other gentlemen a favor. I am going to hold off on contacting--for ten days--any more advertisers. I am going to hold off on telling ABC Radio what their network is now saddled with.

b6
b7C

I, and this entire community, are going to wait these ten days to see what you and Cox Enterprises are going to do to restore Cox's reputation by stopping the airing of such garbage on its airwaves.

Men trolling for boys, demeaning women, airing "shock radio," "appealing to the prurient interest of the audience"--it had better stop.

To put it simply, Rogers and Hill are going to stop doing what they are doing within ten days, or others are going respond appropriately.

If you think this is an effort to drive Neil Rogers off the air, think again. It is an effort to see Federal and State laws enforced. Read my comments in a December, 1987 issue of The Miami Herald: "Neil Rogers is either going to obey court orders, obey the laws of this State, obey FCC Regulations, or he is going to drive himself off the air."

Depend on it.

Best,

RE: Neil Rogers

Dear [REDACTED]

In response to your letters dated November 8, 1988 and November 14, 1988, I want to make it clear that Neil Rogers and Glen Hill have not been "instructed" to do anything. Nonetheless, it is my understanding that the remainder of your first paragraph is accurate.

Furthermore, to the extent that you disagree with the content of their show, you have the prerogative to refrain from listening to it. Cox has made every effort to cooperate with you in connection with your agreement with Mr. Rogers, but will not censor or otherwise interfere with his First Amendment rights.

More significantly, your continued contact with advertisers of WIOD and others with whom it does business constitutes tortious interference with its existing or prospective advantageous business relationships. If you do not immediately cease and desist in this conduct, you will leave Cox no alternative but to seek appropriate redress for any damages sustained.

I trust that you will use appropriate discretion and judgment and refrain from doing so.

Sincerely,

TSB/lmi

PENIS ENVY SONG

If I had a penis, I'd wear it outside
In cafes and car lots, with pomp and with pride
If I had a penis, I'd pamper it proper
I'd stay in the tub and use me as the stopper.

If I had a penis, I'd take it to parties
I'd stretch it and stroke it and shove it at smarties
I'd take it to pet shows and teach it to stay
I'd stuff it in turkeys on Thanksgiving day.

I'd rival my bodies in sports cars with stick shifts (?)
I'd shower my spire with girlies and gifts
I'd peek around corners, I'd aim at my toilet
I'd poke it at foreigners, and soap it and oil it

If I had a penis, I'd run to my mother
Comb out the hair and compare it to brother
I'd lance her, I'd knight her, my hands would indulge Pants would seem tighter and buckle and bulge

A penis to plunder, a penis to push
'Cause one in the hand is worth one in the bush
A penis to love me, a penis to share
To pick up and play with when nobody's there

I'd sit like a guy, I'd straddle the chair
I'd play with my fly, I'll beat it with care
I'd dip it in chocolate, I'd stick it in sockets
I'd stroll to the movies with hands deep in pockets
I'd stick it in vacuums on _____ on verandas
Gas-guzzling Volvos and poodles and pandas
And puddles and drainpipes and doggies and ditches _____ and potholes and bottles and bitches
Zucchini and zebras, tomatoes, tomatoes,
And pineapples, pumpkins, and gulches and grottos
And melons and marshmallows, gloves and gorillas Slurpees and slippers, Chinooks (North American Indians) and chinchillas.

A penis to plunder, a penis to push,
'Cause One in the hand is worth one in the bush,
A penis to love me, a penis to share,
To pick up and play with when nobody's there.

If I had a penis, I'd climb every mountain
I'd force it on females, I'd pee like a fountain,
If I had a penis, I'd still be a girl
But I'd make much more money and conquer the world.

The Honorable Bob Martinez
Governor of the State of Florida
Office of the Governor
The Capitol
Tallahassee, Florida 32399-0001

Re: Executive Order Number 88-177

Dear Governor Martinez:

Weeks after I requested it, State Attorney Joseph D'Alessandro's office has finally sent me their October 14 final report to you regarding the above. I trust that the new victims' rights amendment to the Florida Constitution will ameliorate the anomaly that this report was shared with The Miami Herald before it was even shared with the undersigned victim of some of the crimes committed by Neil Rogers and State Attorney Janet Reno.

Allow me, Governor, some additional prefatory comments to put this matter into perspective. Since August 25, 1987, my wife and I have been the targets of relentless death threats, harassment, slander, hatred, and vilification by a very determined group of people who have sought, by extortionate means, to silence my lawful criticism of their illegal enterprise.

There is no question that I have, at times, been angry not only with what these people have purposefully done to me and my wife but also with the nearly total nonfeasance of elected and other law enforcement officials in the face of this criminal activity.

In a spiritual and philosophical sense, I am grateful to God that all this has happened, because it has compelled me to rely upon the strength and protection afforded me by God--and not upon the imperfect protection of men and societal institutions.

I have learned a great deal through all this, and one thing I have learned is that doing the right thing is not an easy thing to do. However, just because I am grateful that God has sustained me through this, I am not grateful to those responsible. Those who have violated laws should be prosecuted, but [redacted] of Mr. D'Alessandro's office is more intent upon investigating me, my wife, and my motives rather than to do what you ordered that office to do.

b6
b7C

After my wife and I met with [redacted] of Joe D'Alessandro's office, it was very clear to both of us that this is a man who had decided what the outcome of his investigation would be before it began, and that the facts would be misrepresented or deleted in order that they might fit his prefabricated conclusions.

b6

You will see, in my dealing with his ten categories of analysis, that there has not been a fair investigation of a continuing situation that affects every citizen of this State.

The unfairness of [redacted] is not something that I alone allege. Before the October 14 report was even issued, I spoke with a highly-respected lady of unimpeachable judgment and civic service in the Ft. Myers area, who, upon hearing that [redacted] was the Deputy State Attorney assigned to this matter, confirmed that [redacted] was the worst possible choice in Mr. D'Alessandro's office to investigate this matter. [redacted] was described as strange and unfair in his demeanor, techniques, and personal agenda. I shall share with you and your staff the identity of the persons who gave me this cogent analysis of [redacted], but I shall not share it with [redacted] or with anyone in his office, because I do not believe [redacted] is a man of goodwill.

b6
b7C

After [redacted] report was given to the readers of The Herald but not to me, it confirmed not only my but these other persons' worst fears. The proof is indeed in the prosecutorial pudding that has been blended by [redacted]

b6
b7C

[redacted] for example, in asking me about my objection to Neil Rogers' illegal reading of an article on how to masturbate one's male sex partner, expressed no criticism of the reading of the article on the air to children, but was relentless in asking me: "Tell me, [redacted] do you masturbate? Have you ever masturbated? What is wrong with masturbating, [redacted]"

b6
b7C

[redacted] suggested in our meetings that I am "obsessed" with Neil Rogers and with what he is doing on the air because I was probably homosexually molested as a young person and that I am trying to get back at the homosexual community by attacking Rogers. I have never been homosexually molested, but if I had, I guarantee you I would have more compassion (and I do) for homosexuals than the level of contempt and snideness shown me and my wife by this Deputy State Attorney.

b6
b7C

b6
b7C

[redacted] in his investigation of me rather than of Neil Rogers and Janet Reno, expressed, mockingly, surprise that I am not now and never have undergone psychotherapy. Governor, do I need to go on to show you the attitude and prejudging that has been brought to bear upon a matter important not just to me but to tens of thousands of citizens in our admittedly "the rules are different here" part of the world?

b6
b7C

Taking a look at [redacted] October 14 analysis:

b6
b7C

1. Criminal Extortion of Metro-Dade Commission

Commissioner Valdez has changed his tune. I supplied to [redacted] and his investigators a tape of a press conference held by Commissioner Valdez in which Valdez tells the interrogating reporter that the death threats and bomb threats (orchestrated by Rogers and resulting in evacuation of the Metro Government center in July, 1987) would not deter him from pursuing repeal of Dade's "English-Only Ordinance." Valdez blames Rogers by name and says Rogers did this because of this agenda item.

b6
b7C

Rogers gave out the Commissioners' phone numbers and directed the listeners to harass these individuals until the item was removed from the agenda.

Metro Detective [redacted] told me that he thought Rogers' broadcast promise to do this again if this item was not removed once again from the Commission agenda on March 24, 1988, was a crime. I would suggest, at the very least, that this is criminal solicitation of phone harassment, which is a crime set forth in the Florida Statutes. It is interesting that [redacted] has not dealt with this particular crime.

b6
b7C

Further, I cited to [redacted] numerous other instances in which Rogers has broadcast what he calls "targets'" names and phone numbers in order that his "wacko" listeners, as he calls them, might harass them.

b6
b7C

The most significant such target is Dr. Bart Heffernan, a local cardiologist whose medical office number was given out by Rogers in early August, 1987, because Dr. Heffernan took out an ad in a local newspaper protesting Rogers' comments about Pope John Paul II. If I am a nut, as Mr. Rogers and now [redacted] suggests, then so is Dr. Heffernan and Broward Circuit Judge [redacted] who recognized what was going on here and granted an injunction to Dr. Heffernan to deliver him from the three hundred obscene and harassing calls that came in one day to Dr. Heffernan's office, all knowingly solicited by Rogers. [redacted] does not mention, Dr. Heffernan, even though Rogers' irrefutably criminally solicited phone harassment of Dr. Heffernan.

b6
b7C

b6
b7C

Rogers did this only a few days after successfully causing the evacuation of the Metro Government Center. At the very least, this is criminal and reckless endangerment of life, don't you think, Governor?

I shared countless other instances of such harassment of other individuals, which is clearly illegal, with [redacted] [redacted] I have tape recordings of it, supplied to [redacted] but somehow he forgot to tell you about all that.

b6
b7C

2. Phone Harassment of [redacted] by Rogers' Listeners

Here [redacted] grossly mischaracterizes the facts and deletes certain facts highly relevant to an understanding of what has transpired.

b6
b7C

The evidence is compelling and tangible (because it is on tapes from my answer machine) that the people who have threatened me and my wife are listeners of Rogers' Show. They often use recordings from the show itself and couple them with obscenity and other harassment. Often the calls have been made with the Rogers' show airing in the background, and often they come seconds, as they did on Monday of this week, after cruel references to me on his show.

Rogers has referred to me and our dispute relentlessly since August, 1987, in spite of an injunction entered by Dade Circuit Judge John Tanksley directing him to stop, in spite of Rogers' station being held in contempt for refusing to stop, in spite of a December 2, 1987 Agreement signed by the station's parent company and Rogers himself, and despite my sharing with Rogers' and the station's attorneys that death threats and other harassment were being directly and proportionately generated by the high level of references clearly designed (and effectively so) to put me and my wife in fear of loss of our lives.

[redacted] has chosen not to relate the facts in the above paragraph for reasons fully known only to him.

b6
b7C

Further, [redacted] were never visited by me. [redacted] has made that up. The investigation that was conducted was not done by me alone but with the cooperation, direction, and encouragement of Southern Bell's [redacted] [redacted] who has been one of the few friends in this nightmare.

b6
b7C

[redacted] and I have determined that patching phone calls through another's phone is feasible and may have occurred here, as I have also received calls from unsuspecting beeper holders who have had my number

b6
b7C

b6
b7C

mysteriously show up on their small pocket beepers. [redacted] [redacted] knows this has been done.

b6
b7C

[redacted] apparently, as shared on "The Neil Rogers Show," because of investigative efforts about his activities at the time that I was receiving a large volume of harassing phone calls.

b6
b7C

[redacted] (known throughout the South Florida radio industry and by the Metro officers who arrested him two years ago) has a long history of criminal activity, one instance of which was his [redacted] [redacted]

b6
b7C

I have supplied [redacted] with the names of the officers and the responsible people in radio who know all about [redacted] and Rogers' relationship with him. [redacted] chose not to share any of this with you, just as he chose not to share the apparent fact that Arbitron's computer-generated ratings data has been accessed by [redacted] and shared on Rogers' show days before it was legally available to anyone.

b6
b7C

The Arbitron executives acknowledge [redacted] link to their computer people, and they are frightened about the prospect of this information becoming public.

b6
b7C

[redacted] and [redacted] go way back, and [redacted] has failed to share that fact, as well as the fact that Rogers' has surrounded himself with young and middle-aged computer hackers and experts who appear to be involved in certain things that I would not wisely share in this letter.

b6
b7C

[redacted] has also chosen not to tell you that there is substantial evidence to indicate that another Guy Gannett station, located in Tampa--WPLP--when it was still owned by Gannett, had a [redacted]

b6
b7C

[redacted] who took a similar position against their "shock radio" programming. [redacted] is an acknowledged confidant of Rogers who described [redacted] wife's genitalia on the air and got [redacted] These Gannett people are swell guys.

The reason I have not yet moved against [redacted] [redacted] with whom I did speak on the phone, is his admitted broken tie to [redacted] and his rather compelling and believable story as to what he thinks actually happened.

b6
b7C

Unlike [redacted] I am able to believe people even if they say things that are out of the ordinary. At the very least, I have chosen not to move against [redacted] because, given the possibility that what he says is true (that [redacted] must have channeled the threats through his phone, which is something [redacted] says could very well have

b6
b7C

b6
b7C

happened), buttressed by my own gleaned understanding of computer hacking, computer theft, and computer viruses, I am not anxious, for legal and ethical reasons, to initiate the prosecution of someone who, in my opinion, is telling the truth.

That is what is called "malicious prosecution," which is something [] seems somewhat overly sensitive to unless it is a prosecution he wants me to pursue in spite of the facts.

b6
b7C

3. Physical Threat by Rogers Toward []

b6
b7C

It is significant that [] has chosen to mischaracterize this threat and not share the specifics of it with you. The day before the threat was made, I called the [] who has become one of Rogers' entourage, whose name is []. [] I did so upon the direction of my counsel, hoping that [] would agree to speak with me and my counsel regarding Rogers' activities, in furtherance of discovery in our federal lawsuit.

By the way, allow me to point out that one of my retained attorneys is [] who sat down with me and at great length heard about what has been going on here. [] has been around the block a few times and thinks I am credible and that my opinions of what is alleged to be going on here, including computer activities, is credible. I'll take [] assessment as at least of some weight anytime. If forced to make a choice between [] judgment and [] I would not have a great deal of difficulty choosing.

b6
b7C

[] said he would think about my request and then called Rogers, who the next day said that [] is his "bodyguard" and that the person who had called him the night before (yours truly) had better not do that again because [] could "turn people into a pretzel." Rogers' sidekick then said that he had seen people whom [] had turned into pretzels.

b6
b7C

That sounds like a threat to me.

4. Death Threats Solicited or Induced by Rogers

This is one of the grossest mischaracterizations of the facts to be found in [] report, to wit:

b6
b7C

On [] Rogers broadcast my name, spelling it very slowly, the city of my residence, and the first three digits of my phone number. This was done days after the successes by Rogers in targeting the Metro Commission and Dr. Heffernan for death threats and other harassment.

b6
b7C

I was listening to Rogers at the time he targeted me, and I instantly, for the first time in eighteen years, received death threats and bomb threats. I was unnerved and frightened and did not want to hear these threats directly. I did, however, have the presence of mind to put my answer machine on, and I have supplied tape recordings of additional death threats and other harassment to [redacted]

b6
b7C

[redacted] Somewhat cleverly and I think fairly, but as [redacted] pointed out to me, also quite illegally, I call-forwarded my calls, in the midst of a torrent of threats and harassment, to Rogers' radio station's switchboard.

I stopped that as soon as Southern Bell asked me not to, but it is interesting to consider the fury of Rogers and his station when the harassment of their listeners that they purposefully unleashed upon me bothered them. [redacted] as I told [redacted] told Mr. Rogers' station that he would get me to stop the call-forwarding but that the station would do well to stop doing the things that led me to do so. They never did take [redacted] advice.

b6
b7C

Because they did not, I have on my answer machine tapes of death threats upon me that only [redacted] would construe not to be death threats. How would you take this message, Governor?: "Don't you know that if you persist, an attempt will be made on your life." Again: "Why do you invite death?" And so on.

b6
b7C

Maybe this is harmless humor to [redacted] It sounds like death threats to me, knowingly and repeatedly, month after month, solicited by Rogers. I can prove to anyone willing to see that the references to me on the Rogers show coincide directly with the threats and other harassment, even to the extent of the harassment incorporating the very recorded comments from the Rogers show into the harassment itself. Rogers and his and the station's attorneys let this go on for months.

b6
b7C

The reasons they let it go on, Governor, are so bizarre that I do not feel comfortable with sharing them in this letter because of the likelihood that this communication may not be totally secure. I am more than happy to fly to Tallahassee to share what is going on here face-to-face with a trustworthy member of your or the General Counsel's staff.

5. Criminal Solicitation of Boys for Sex

This may indeed be the most bizarre, willful distortion of the facts by [redacted] whose own personal agenda here is brought into question by such a misrepresentation that goes right to the core of Rogers' criminal activity and the nonfeasance of Mr. D'Alessandro's office in response to your Executive Order.

b6
b7C

b6
b7C

I have tapes, some of which I have supplied to [redacted] and his investigators, of Rogers asking to come over to a fifteen-year-old's house to "hang out with you, so to speak, if you catch my drift." Rogers, in that call, says that the boy won't have to worry about "catching" anything from him.

b6
b7C

[redacted] was first contacted and then procured by Rogers for his apparent sexual gratification through his show, and is now [redacted] Rogers.

b6
b7C

The two have spoken on the air with one another suggesting the sex they have had with one another.

Rogers had two teenage boys, a [redacted] and a [redacted], his friend, over to [redacted] for a live broadcast from [redacted] in which Rogers suggests going into one of the bedrooms with the boys to engage in sex. He doesn't say it precisely that way, to be sure, but no one with a brain and any level of familiarity with Rogers' vernacular and sexual slang has any doubt what he is talking about.

b6
b7C

On one taped show, Rogers asks [redacted] to come over to him, Rogers, and stuff something [redacted] has in Rogers' mouth. The laughter and other sexual innuendo that accompanies this conversation indicates what is being talked about.

b6
b7C

A young man by the name of [redacted] at the time, was repeatedly on the air solicited by Rogers to have sex with him. Is Rogers' kidding? I do not know, because I did not see whether they did or not, obviously. But Rogers went on for weeks about how obsessed he was with [redacted] that he had a "crush" on him, that "I want [redacted] body," and so on.

b6
b7C

Finally, the clincher, so to speak, that puts the lie to [redacted] fantasizing that I infer "deviant sexual practices where others do not perceive them": After a show on [redacted] 1988, in which Rogers had these boys in the booth with him and was expressing his desire to have sex with them, Rogers took a call the next day from a man who complained about Rogers' "trolling for boys" right on the air.

b6
b7C

Rogers said, "I was trolling like crazy last August for guys on the radio [WINZ-AM was running a station promotion, promising to pay for a trip for Rogers and whichever male listener he found most sexually arousing] and I'm going to keep on trolling for guys, because one of these days I'm going to get lucky. I'm going to strike gold!"

In close proximity to that statement, Rogers told a

b6
b7C

listener, "You can't begin to count the number of young Latin males I have had sex with."

Governor Martinez, I could relate statement after statement by this man, including specific suggestions that specific teenage boys meet him at certain spots in order that he might see if they are to his liking. He asks how old boy callers are and what they look like and "if they are open to new things." He runs tape recordings of the "bag boys at Publix" and unabashedly professes his lust for them.

Is [] kidding? More importantly, is this Constitutionally-protected speech? Maybe [] needs to develop a prosecutor's understanding of what "deviant sexual practices" are.

b6
b7C

Florida's "Sexual Material Harmful to Minors" Statute proscribes such broadcast of such real or entertaining solicitations, whether they rise to the level of criminal solicitation or not. Treating incest and sexual child abuse as humorous and thus normal is "harmful" under the statute, and the individual States have a right to enforce such laws. The FCC does not have a total preemption of that regulation on the public airwaves.

Having [] who along with [] sexually molested children in a highly-publicized case here in Dade County, I do not think such topics funny, nor do the parents whose children were molested.

b6
b7C

I could produce over a hundred psychologists or psychiatrists who understand that to engage in such discussions on the air, with children listening, has a "harmful" effect upon them.

But [] sees me as the problem here, not Neil Rogers.

b6
b7C

I shall conclude by pointing out that at precisely 11:45 a.m. today on "The Neil Rogers Show" that has now perched at Cox Broadcasting's WIOD-AM, Rogers told a twelve-year-old boy calling in to the show that he should tape record "Jet Boy/Jet Girl" and play it for all his twelve-year old friends.

[] "Jet Boy/Jet Girl" is a seven-minute song that [] another talk host on WIOD, unabashedly calls an "ode to homosexuality." It talks about sado-masochistic beating by a boy of his male sex partner, oral-receptive sex ("He gives me head") over and over again, anal-receptive intercourse, etc.

b6
b7C

This song is not on the popular music charts. It is from the underground recesses of the music industry, as

b6
b7C

indicated by the fact that you will not hear it on any other station in the market. Even Rogers' old station, WZTA, pulled it off the air when they found out from me that he was playing it.

6. Extortion of Janet Reno

Again, [] has grossly misrepresented the facts, which are verifiable independent of my relating them.

b6
b7C

On October 24, 1987, the Ft. Lauderdale News-Sun Sentinel reported a direct quotation by Janet Reno, since verified as accurate by the reputable Miami bureau reporter, [] who wrote the story, that she had opened an "investigation" of Neil Rogers.

b6
b7C

In fact, the article says that Ms. Reno specifically assigned an Assistant State Attorney to "monitor" Rogers Shows. I did not hold a gun to [] head to make him write this story. He got the story from Ms. Reno.

b6
b7C

The next Monday, I believe, October 26, Rogers related the story on his show and referred to Ms. Reno as a "diesel truck driver."

She immediately dropped the investigation.

[] either because of his and his investigators' prevarication or stunning naivete, claim that to call a woman a "diesel truck driver" is not to allege she is a lesbian.

b6
b7C

I spoke today with a gentleman, whose name and phone number I shall be more than happy to give to someone in your office but not in this letter in order that he might be secure from the malfeasance of certain radio people and the nonfeasance of certain Special Prosecutors, who tells me he was a bartender in gay bars and other homosexual establishments in Miami for sixteen years. This gentleman has since become a Christian and has abandoned that lifestyle. People in radio and some people jaded by too many years in the criminal justice system don't believe in such religious conversions, but they do indeed occur. I became a Christian [] years ago myself.

b6
b7C

This gentleman tells me, uncontrovertably, what I have known for over twenty years: "diesel truck driver" is the term used by the gay community to describe the "butch" or dominant partner in a lesbian, homosexual relationship.

Rogers uses the term, not to describe physical appearance, but to publicly tag a certain female news anchor in the Miami television market who is widely reputed to be a lesbian. There is absolutely nothing, in my opinion, about her appearance that makes her look like a "diesel truck driver." To the contrary, in my opinion, she is quite feminine in her appearance.

But Rogers calls her a "diesel truck driver," just as he routinely labels others whom he wants his audience to know he thinks are lesbians, in order to titillate his cruel audience and also to let the local communications industry know they had better leave him alone, or else.

In direct contradiction to [redacted] report, I have contacted the FBI (in Miami, Las Vegas, and Honolulu), the United States Attorney's Office, the Metro Police Department repeatedly, the FDLE (whose terrific advice to me was to flee the state), the Prosecutor's Coordination office, The Florida Bar, and the Dade County Grand Jury. I have spent hours working with the Broward Sheriff's Office, only to have Sheriff Nick Navarro back off and begin advertising his reelection bid on Rogers' show. It appears some male politicians also put their reelections ahead of the welfare of our children.

b6
b7C

I have offered evidence to all of the above, and I have been turned away everytime with references to the First Amendment.

[redacted] is grossly misleading you in suggesting that I have not pursued these matters with law enforcement. His misrepresentations are easily proven independently of my assertions, which may indicate why it has been so difficult for me to secure his October 14 report from him.

b6
b7C

And let me say: You bet my letters to Ms. Reno have been "hostile." I regret any extent to which my anger would suggest that my concern is motivated by personal spite. That is all I regret about any expressed hostility toward Ms. Reno.

Her (to be gracious in using the term) inexplicable dropping of an investigation, the commencement and dropping of which are a matter of public record, has opened the flood gates of death threats and harassment toward me and my wife.

[redacted] has chosen not to tell you that for over a decade Dade County has been rife with rumors that Janet Reno is a lesbian homosexual. I do not know whether those rumors are true, but when I am the victim of her dropping an investigation that exposes me and my wife to threats on our lives from followers of a man who has labeled her a lesbian, in a vernacular allegedly unknown to the naive [redacted] then I am quite interested to find out what is going on here.

b6
b7C

It is interesting that [redacted] chose not to share with

b6
b7C

b6
b7C

you the fact, obtained from me after relentless demands from [redacted] that a Ms. [named deleted from this copy] now living at a specific address in Washington, D.C. and a former campaign worker for Ms. Reno, has been repeatedly alleged by her former husband, [name deleted] of [redacted] to have left him in order to pursue a lesbian, homosexual affair with Ms. Reno.

b6
b7C

The fact that [named deleted] has alleged that has been confirmed by the attorney for [name deleted] (whose name I gave [redacted]), by a long-time friend of [name deleted], and also by Mr. [name deleted--her husband] himself.

b6
b7C

The issue here is not Ms. Reno's sexual orientation, whatever it is, but rather, in my opinion, whether she is living a lie which makes her subject to blackmail and whether she has in fact been blackmailed.

I believe she has been blackmailed, and I believe your predecessor and the man who appointed Janet Reno State Attorney, Rubin Askew, who said he would never knowingly appoint a homosexual to any official post in the State of Florida, would at least be interested to know that it appears that Janet Reno has been blackmailed by an extortionist's clever allegation to 50,000 radio listeners.

If [redacted] has a problem with that as relevant to law enforcement and integrity--that the chief prosecutor in this County may be living a lie and is thus susceptible to being deterred from enforcing the law--then he has a real problem with the historical and current thinking of the FBI, the CIA, the Secret Service, and the law enforcement agencies of nearly every country in the Free and Communist Worlds.

b6
b7C

Special Prosecutors who find it more convenient to live with the wrath of a private citizen rather than with the ire of another State Attorney probably don't have the guts to be good State Attorneys, at least when it comes to dealing with issues such as this.

Before I forget, I would respectfully ask that you appoint a State Attorney to do the job you directed the Special Prosecutor to do: investigate Neil Rogers, not [redacted] [redacted]

b6
b7C

7. The Criminal Complaint Against Janet Reno

[redacted] has, once again, exhibited his confusion or his prevarication. I never discussed giving the letter I gave Janet Reno with [redacted]. If I had, he would have advised me not to, because he does not suffer from the naivete of thinking that someone like Janet Reno would handle it responsibly.

b6
b7C

b6
b7C

That is something I decided to do on my own, and I now certainly wish I had not, because what transpired has given [] the opportunity to label this a "political ploy."

b6
b7C

With Section 6 above as background and convinced, as I still am, that Ms. Reno has indeed been blackmailed into dropping her investigation, whether she has been extorted because she is a lesbian or because she does not want to deal with the most popular radio personality in Florida who is willing to say that she is, I decided to ask Ms. Reno, privately, by a letter marked "Personal" and "Confidential" what her sexual orientation is.

It is interesting to me that Gary Hart's sexual activities were of national interest, even though there was no suggestion that he had been blackmailed because of them.

I would suggest, as I have learned, that even private discussion of possible homosexual activity, between two people, can lead to media and Special Prosecutorial fury that addresses the motives of the person who is concerned rather than a discussion of its possibility.

[] has apparently willfully mischaracterized Ms. Reno's response to my written, private inquiry. I asked her not to open the letter at the school but rather later. I had not wanted to send such a sensitive matter through her office's mail system.

b6
b7C

She opened it anyway while I was speaking by closed circuit with the kids at the school. She immediately showed it to the teachers there, and when I exited from in front of the camera she grabbed me firmly, with both hands on my shoulders. What she did was not "gently placing her hand on [my] shoulder." She held me firmly and agitatedly lectured me, saying that she was attracted to strong, virile men and that that is why she is not attracted to me, or words to that effect.

She then grabbed me again after I got away from her, in order than she might mockingly tell me "Everything will be all right, [] as though I were one of the elementary school children she and I had come to talk to.

b6
b7C

I really don't care whether the adults in the room thought my letter was "odious" or that they were "disgusted." They don't know what was going on and probably never will.

But I would suggest that [] as offensive as he may find what I did, was charged by you, if indeed this should have been handled by the same Special Prosecutor (I believe it should not have been, but [] because of his agenda, could not wait to get his hands on it), with the responsibility of seeing whether the elements of a "simple battery" were present.

b6

Indeed, they are, and it is interesting to me that the decision by [redacted] whether a crime was committed has turned on what he thought of my letter rather than her criminal response to that letter. [redacted] has talked long and hard down to me about how important "freedom of speech" is. In my exercising that freedom by privately giving Ms. Reno a letter, [redacted] has become so exercised that he has concluded, obviously, that her battery upon me was justified by the "odious" nature of the letter.

b6
b7C

It is also interesting that [redacted] has brought me into contact with a [redacted] who has shown me the documents pertaining to an alleged simple battery relentlessly pursued by her and her office against [redacted] because he was a zealous critic of FPL and "has been a thorn in the side of FPL for twenty-five years."

b6
b7C

Those words of Ms. Reno's assistant reveal the motivation behind that office's pursuit of [redacted]. That prosecution of [redacted] was dropped when Reno's office's motivation became clear. But it is labeled a "political ploy" by [redacted] to have filed a police report.

b6
b7C

I made absolutely no mention of the contents of the letter to the interesting Sgt. [redacted] who greeted me with the charge that I was filing the battery complaint "as a political ploy." I had called the station before coming over, so Sgt. [redacted] was all primed and ready to try to intimidate me from filing the complaint.

b6
b7C

One of the sad aspects of this entire affair has been the preoccupation of law enforcement people, with the exception of Detective [redacted] to cover one another's backsides and treat victims of death threats, extortion, harassment, and batteries by livid State Attorneys as though they were the perpetrators.

b6
b7C

I understand it happens in rape cases all the time.

I totally reject [redacted] characterization of all this as a political ploy. It was a highly impolitic effort to privately address an issue that had a direct bearing on my and my wife's safety.

b6
b7C

I regret having done it this way, only because there are [redacted] out there and State Attorneys out there, who, as she did, will go to a CBS television affiliate and lie about how she thought it was all a joke. Where has she been for the ten years that every lawyer in Dade County has heard the rumor that she is a lesbian, and where was she when she

b6
b7C

b6
b7C

was telling me how unattractive she found me while supposedly talking to me in a friendly manner because she "thought it was just a joke"?

8. The Mann Act

Mr. Rogers does appear to have violated the Mann Act. He claims to have taken a high school junior, whose first name is [redacted] across state lines, to Las Vegas. He also took [redacted] if he is to be believed, to Hawaii. Both teenagers he procured through his show and on the air he expressed his sexual lust for. I have verified that both boys were indeed taken on these trips.

b6
b7C

Further, the aforementioned bartender in gay bars will verify that Rogers for years has attended such establishments in search of boys.

9. The Secret Service

Rogers has repeatedly broadcast jokes about shooting the President and Presidential and Vice Presidential candidates. Secret Service Agent [redacted] has told me that is illegal. Rogers himself has admitted on the air that it is illegal but does it anyway.

b6
b7C

The Secret Service has said they have chosen to do nothing because they do not want to anger Rogers and thus prompt him to do it even more. That is like saying the police cause criminals to break laws.

A grateful long-time friend and [redacted] to Vice President-Elect Dan Quayle has written me and thanked me for what I have done in this regard. [redacted] is not similarly appreciative.

b6
b7C

10. The FCC

Congressman Dante Fascell has agreed with me as to the troublesome nature of Rogers' broadcasts, and because of my and the Congressman's concern, along with the complaints of countless other citizens, the two radio stations Rogers has used to extort private citizens and solicit boys for homosexual sex, as well as violate other laws, are now being investigated.

I have no particular faith in the FCC. After all, they have let this go on for quite sometime. That is why I signed the private agreement with the two stations' ownership and with Mr. Rogers in order that I might have a private remedy for the problems we are having down here.

Governor Martinez, allow me to conclude this very long letter by addressing [redacted] conclusions as to my

b6
b7C

b6
b7C

motivations, which he has come to by his amateur psychoanalysis of me and to serve whatever ends he is strangely pursuing.

Yes, I am engaged in a civil suit against the people that own the two stations. I have publicly pledged every cent that I might recover to charity.

The goal here is not to pursue some private agenda for personal financial gain or for some other twisted form of gratification or vengeance. I have put my life, over the past fifteen months, on the line, because as a Christian I am called to do just that on behalf of those who are not as fortunate as I to have been blessed with a legal degree to do effective battle with these dangerous criminals.

When a man makes $300,000 a year soliciting boys for sex on the radio, telling them it is normal to have sex with their parents and with their siblings, all the while knowingly encouraging people to threaten the lives of those who object, then I say somebody at least has a right to speak out.

I have a First Amendment right to say this is wrong and to be free from death threats in doing so and to expect law enforcement, once the threats and harassment continue for fifteen months, knowingly orchestrated by certain known individuals, to do something, whether [redacted] likes my view of the world or not.

b6

I grant you and even [redacted]--I am not the average kind of guy. I do not know anyone else who would have taken on these clowns, and, quite honestly, I would not have, probably, if I had fully known what they would do to me and to my community. But my resolve has slowly grown as their criminality in trying to stop me has mounted.

There is no question whatsoever that I have been angry at times and that I have done things in a certain way that have allowed people like [redacted] to guess at my motives and declare their guesses to be facts.

b6
b7C

Governor, on December 2, 1987, I signed an Agreement with these people that I alone suggested and that I intended to put a stop to the death threats and the solicitations of kids. I gave up what would have been a successful lawsuit that would have vindicated me in order that the illegal content of these shows might be stopped by the Agreement.

After the very first Rogers Show under this Agreement, the attorney for the stations, after Rogers violated the Agreement 94 times, said it was clear these people "had no intention of honoring this Agreement."

Having given up what would have been a lucrative lawsuit in order to better serve the needs of the community, I once again, even after months of violations continued, repeatedly offered to meet with Rogers in order to see if we might be able to stop this dispute. He refused.

I have even approached, recently, both Rogers' attorneys and [redacted] the [redacted] of a Roman Catholic home for the homeless who knows Rogers, to see if we might sit down, and in a spirit of conciliation, get this over with.

b6
b7C

The attorneys who let this go on, and Rogers himself, refuse such a meeting.

Now you tell me, Governor: Who is motivated by "an obsessional hatred"? Is it I, or is it those who have surrounded Rogers? I do hate his show, because I hate sin or illegality, to put it in contemporary terms. Law school can have that affect upon at least some people.

Do I hate Neil Rogers as well as his show? I have stood in front of hundreds of people in the sanctuary of the First Baptist Church of Perrine in Miami, Florida, and proclaimed my love for Neil Rogers, because he, like me, is a sinner, no better and no worse, who needs to acknowledge himself as such and deal with that sin.

[redacted] knows nothing of the ability to hate the sin and love the sinner, and it shows in his report.

b6
b7C

But even if you or anyone else doesn't buy my spiritual analysis, the fact remains: Much, so very much, of what Neil Rogers is now continuing to do, is illegal.

All of the gyrations and misrepresentations of [redacted] all the excuses and outright lies of Janet Reno, all the doubts of those who are not familiar with Rogers and his clever devices, are not going to change that fact.

b6
b7C

Governor, you can rely upon the conclusions of [redacted] and close the book on this sad, tragic, ongoing tale.

b6
b7C

But I guarantee you one thing: Regardless, Governor, of what you do or do not do, I am going to continue to do whatever is right and legal to make this man stop breaking the law.

[redacted] says I am "obsessed." Maybe he is right. To use his term, I am "obsessed" with freedom of speech for individuals as well as for the media.

b6
b7C

I am "obsessed" with the idea that a man and his wife have a right to be secure in their home.

b6
b7C

I am "obsessed," finally, with the right of parents to raise their children in their own values and not the values of a man who illegally recruits them for his own sexual enjoyment and for the enjoyment of others.

Governor, the only thing I want is for the laws of this State to be enforced. I took an oath, upon becoming a lawyer, to do just that. Upon taking office as Governor, you did the same, and I know you take that oath very seriously.

Toward that end, I stand ready, on a moment's notice, to meet with anyone of your choosing to delineate, in detail, the full breadth of what is going on here.

It is my sincere opinion that State Attorney Joseph D'Alessandro has been left almost no choice but to endorse what his own Deputy State Attorney has done. Any good State Attorney would tend to stand behind his own people.

But I must say, with all candor, that the Special Prosecutor has yet to take a fair, impartial look at the criminal activities of Neil Rogers.

Is not the State of Florida entitled to that?

Best,

Boys Want Sex in the Morning

Boys want sex in the morning,
Sex in the morning
When I'm not my best
Petting and pawing
Tearing at my breasts.

Boys want someone who's winsome
Someone to pin, someone to undertake
Boys want someone to fall on Someone to crawl on Someone half awake.

Boys want sex in the morning,
Sex in the morning,
Covers at my knees
Boys want rotten conditions
Placid positions
I am a trapeze

Boys want someone who's sleepy
Someone who's keeping nothing in too deep
Boys want somebody firsthand
Someone to burst
And then go back to sleep

There is nothing I like better than a jostle now and then
With the hands under the sweater and the back that starts to
bend,
But before my eyes are open I don't want to have to hide
From a single tongue still poking with a thimble full of pride

Boys want sex in the morning, sex in the morning
Soiling the sheets
Boys want sex while I'm yawning,
Suddenly spawning when I'm half asleep
Boys want someone unconscious,
Somebody not just waiting for a thrill
Boys want sex with surprises
Sex with sunrises
Someone on the pill

There is nothing like a lover who can satisfy your needs
And the joy when you discover just how often he succeeds
But before my eyes can focus, I don't need him to surprise
By descending like some locust on a field of sleeping thighs

Boys want sex in the morning, sex in the morning,
When I'm still not fresh
Boys want something that strikes them
Someone who likes them fondling their flesh
Boys want someone to take, and someone to break
And comment on their size

Boys want someone to prod and someone who'll nod
And then just close her eyes.

JET BOY, JET GIRL

Jet boy, jet girl, gonna take you 'round the world,
Jet boy, I'm going to make them penetrate,
I'm going to make you be a girl,
Ooh, ooh, ooh, ooh, jet boy, jet girl.

Can you tell what's on my mind?
She with him, it drives me wild,
I like to hit him on the head, until he's dead.
The sight of blood is such a high
Ooh, ooh, ooh, ooh, he gives me head.

We made it on a ballroom blitz,
I took his arm and kissed his lips
He looked at me with such a smile, my face turned red.
We booked a room into the Ritz,
Ooh, ooh, ooh, ooh, he gives me head.

Jet boy, jet girl, gonna take you 'round the world,
Jet boy, I'm going to make them penetrate,
I'm going to make you be a girl,
Ooh, ooh, jet boy, jet girl.

And though I'm only just fifteen,
I like to kick, I like to scream,
And even if I have a kick or two in bed,
When I'm with him, it's just a dream,
Ooh, ooh, ooh, ooh, he gives me head.

Jet boy, jet girl, gonna take you 'round the world,
Jet boy, I'm going to make them penetrate,
I'm going to make you be a girl,
Ooh, ooh, jet boy, jet girl.

The other day, what a surprise,
I saw him with some other guys,
God, he was dressed up with a girl around his neck,
I could have cried before my eyes,
Ooh, ooh, ooh, ooh, he gave me head.

Jet boy, jet girl, gonna take you 'round the world,
Jet boy, I'm going to make them penetrate,
I'm going to make you be a girl,
Ooh, ooh, jet boy, jet girl.

And if or when I make it through,
Or if my brain is stuck on glue,
And when the world begins to forget all that I've said,
I'll still remember you,
Ooh, ooh, ooh, ooh, you gave me head.

Jet boy, jet girl, gonna take you 'round the world,
Jet boy, I'm going to make them penetrate,
I'm going to make you be a girl,
Ooh, ooh, ooh, ooh, jet boy, jet girl.

Jet boy, jet girl, gonna take you 'round the world,
Jet, I'm going to make them penetrate,
I'm going to make you be a girl,
Ooh, ooh, ooh, ooh, you gave me head.

Judge orders end to war against talk host

By BUDDY NEVINS
Miami Bureau Chief

A Dade circuit judge ordered a Coral Gables attorney on Friday to stay away from top-rated radio broadcaster Neil Rogers.

It was the latest chapter in a two-year campaign by attorney Jack Thompson to get Rogers off the air.

Thompson claims Rogers is obscene and "promotes" homosexuality on the air. Those charges have been rejected by more than a dozen federal and state agencies.

Yet his one-man campaign has cost Rogers' station, WIOD (610-AM), hundreds of thousands of dollars in legal fees and lost advertising.

"It is amazing how one person can spread these lies about another person every single day for two years, nobody can stop it, and we end up paying," Rogers said.

"I don't believe I'm obsessed by the man. I'm concerned about what he does ... the man is a public nuisance," Thompson said.

The two men testified for 2½ hours on Friday before Circuit Judge Philip Bloom granted Rogers' request for a restraining order against Thompson.

The broadcaster testified that Thompson's "unpredictable and volatile nature" was a threat.

Among the court documents was an outline of a speech on which Thompson had written, "For Rogers sake — death."

"I think its incredible to suggest ...

that I would call for [Rogers'] death. I've never touched another person in anger," countered Thompson, who acted as his own attorney.

He said the speech was to a Christian group and that the statement was meant as a reminder to talk about Rogers' fate in hell if his soul wasn't saved before he died.

The speech outline was among the thousands of letters, transcripts, speeches and notes Thompson turned over this month in three suits filed against him by Rogers and WIOD. The suits charge Thompson with a "prolonged series of malicious attacks" and ask for $26 million in damages.

The documents show that Thompson's charges have been rebuffed by the Federal Communications Commission, state officials and numerous law enforcement agencies.

But if authorities are brushing off Thompson, advertisers aren't.

In the last month, Best Western, the Florida Department of Citrus and Sears canceled ads.

"I am astonished how a corporation can be blackmailed by one person," said Mike Disney, WIOD general manager.

RE: Your client, Neil Rogers

Dear Sir:

Please be advised we are in receipt of your letter of November 15, 1989, in which you state the area of what you intend to ask Special Agent [redacted] (SA) [redacted] at deposition set for some time in the future.

b6
b7C

If you limit your questions to merely a confirmation or not of what [redacted] has already stated in deposition, then a Privacy Act Order is probably not needed. However, if you intend to ask questions related to details contained in the investigative file whereby SA [redacted] would have to refer to criminal investigative records, then a Privacy Order signed by the state judge would be necessary.

(X)
b6
b7C

However that may be, your letter complies with the Code of Federal Regulations in that you indicated the scope and relevance of your subpoena for deposition.

Please contact SA [redacted] of this office at 787-6689 to confirm the limits on the upcoming deposition and apprise us as to when it will be set.
